Snowstorm Hits Dixie; Tornado Slams Georgia

By UNITED PRESS

A savage northeaster spawned a tornado in Georgia Friday and sent a heavy snow storm driving through Dixie into the nation's Northeast.

The cold blast, sweeping along the Gulf Coast, ran head on into a warm, humid air mass and triggered a tornado which struck the residential section of Cochran, Ga.

The twister injured at least 10 persons and destroyed or damaged about 40 homes. National guardsmen moved into the town to protect damaged property. Communications were ripped out and civil defense officials sent in two mobile units.

Move In Medical Supplies

Ambulances loaded with medical supplies also moved into the twister-hit town of 3,500, located 40 miles south of Macon, Ga.

The Georgia Highway Patrol said the twister hit at midafternoon near the Middle Georgia State College campus in Cochran.

The eastern storm threatened to take a toll of lives in traffic smashups on snow-covered or icy roads. By late afternoon, two such deaths had been reported, one in Mississippi and one in Illinois.

Schools closed down in Tennessee and North Carolina as the area's heaviest snows of the winter moved in. Warnings of slicked roads and hazardous driving conditions went out throughout the snow-threatened area.

Snow in Louisiana

The North Carolina mountains had a half-foot of snow by midafternoon, with more coming down. From three to five inches of snow were measured in parts of southwest Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia. Snow fell as far south as Mississippi and Baton Rouge, La.

Along the Atlantic Coast, heavy seas broke on the beaches and tides two to three feet higher than normal were forecast. Gale force winds were expected in New England coastal areas.

The U.S. Weather Bureau warned "this situation is potentially capable of becoming a major snow storm and developments may take place rapidly during the night."

It forecast heavy snows for interior areas west of a line running from Concord, N.H., through Washington, D. C., to near Lynchburg, Va.

Weather forecasters said the growing storm would probably take a swipe at the Midwest as well. Sleet slicked southern Indiana highways and Ohio expected at least 2 to 4 inches of snow.

Dog Credited With Saving Owner's Life

DALLAS UP—A dog named "Spot" is credited with saving the life of service station attendant Paul Arredondo, 40, Friday when three Negroes robbed the station of $300.

Arredondo said the dog lunged at the man with the gun when the trio entered the station at 4818 South Second. The other two bandits, armed with knives, kicked Spot to the floor and the armed man knocked him unconscious with the butt of his gun.

The three ordered Arredondo to give them the money and then decided to kill him. As the gunman leveled his pistol at the attendant's head, Spot regained consciousness and with a growl leaped across a desk to grab the bandit's arm with his teeth.

The other two Negroes again kicked Spot loose and the men fled out the door. Not a shot was fired.

President Has Color TV Sets Loaned By NBC

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has two color television sets on loan from the National Broadcasting Co. in his living quarters in the White House, it was disclosed Friday.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen the television industry had loaned the White House four other black-and-white TV sets for the use of executive officials. He said one of these sets is in the President's office.

Hagerty said there was nothing wrong in these loans. He said the borrowed TV sets were intended merely to enable the President and his official family to "follow the news."

Hagerty's remarks were in reply to questions prompted by the disclosure that House investigators are looking into charges that members of the Federal Communications Commission accepted gifts and favors from broadcasters.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) of the House Commerce Committee has promised a "complete investigation of the accusations, which were contained in a memorandum prepared by the staff of a subcommittee.

A&M Editor Urged To Quit His Post

HOUSTON (UP) — Editor Joe Tindel of the Texas A&M Battalion told a Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity chapter Thursday that he has been asked to resign three times.

Tindel said he had been asked to resign by a "member of the college board" the college president and the student senate. The latter request was over his editorials in support of co-education at the all - male college, Tindel said. The matter is pending before the Student Publications Board.

"I have every confidence in the publications board," Tindel remarked. "I will not resign unless they force me to and I don't believe they will do that."

Venezuela Still In Chaos; Appeal To Halt Ignored

CARACAS, Venezuela Jan. 24 (AP)—Roving civilian mobs unleashed their fury against police and government buildings in a renewal of violence in this Venezuelan capital late today. They ignored government appeals for order.

Police headquarters in downtown Caracas, homes of former government officials, the Ministry of Education building and the Dominican and Nicaraguan embassies, were targets for the crowds.

One government spokesman said the armed forces were trying to put down what he stamped as plain vandalism.

The crowds threatened to attack two embassies in a belief that Argentina's ex-dictator Juan D. Peron was in hiding there.

Shortly after national guard and army troops rescued police from the headquarters building, the governing junta dissolved the security police.

Quit Junta

It also announced that Col. Roberto Casanova and Col. Abel Romero had resigned from the junta which was formed yesterday to rule the country after dictator Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez was ousted and fled to exile in the Dominican Republic.

Both had held high posts in the Perez Jimenez regime, Roberto as commander of the air force and Casanova as governor of Guarico State.

The governing council also announced as the mobs continued to shatter store windows, defying the fire of soldiers, that the night's curfew would begin at 5 p.m., two hours earlier than last night's.

The mob around the police headquarters numbered about 2,000.

While most made a frontal attack on the building, others set fire to 18 automobiles parked on the south side of the Capital building near the police station.

Zaroubin Urges U.S. To Exchange Visits By Solons

WASHINGTON (UP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon emerged Friday from an unusual meeting with Russian Ambassador Georgi Zaroubin and announced a new U.S.-Soviet exchange agreement.

Nixon, who made no commitment on the Zaroubin proposal, promptly countered by stressing to Zaroubin the importance this country attaches to President Eisenower's proposal for an East-West agreement on using outer space only for peaceful purposes.

Zaroubin made no comment on the President's plan.

But Nixon announced after the almost unprecedented meeting that this country and Russia had reached an agreement on cultural exchanges.

Nixon said the agreement, which has been in the works for some time, would be signed within a few days. Other sources indicated it might cover exchanges of radio, TV, movies, magazine educators and tourists.

FOR STREET

Rail Right-Of-Way Use Asked By City

City Engineer Wade Sanders has presented a proposal to the Illinois Central Railroad to convert an unused downtown right-of-way into a 20-foot street, it was announced yesterday.

The plan was designed to solve Monroe's major downtown traffic problem, Sanders said.

The conversion would create a by-pass route to take a "heavy volume" of traffic off DeSiard street, according to Sanders.

Under the plan, an unused right-of-way alongside the I.C. tracks between Walnut and North Fourth would be converted into a 20-foot street.

Sanders presented the plan to J. F. Reents, superintendent of the Vicksburg division of the company.

Straighten "Dog-Leg"

Under the existing arrangement, the main line of the Illinois Central makes a "dog - leg" which begins at the center of the block between Second and Third streets. Continuing in a straight line from the main line turn - off for the "dog - leg" is a stretch of track used for switching purposes.

Sanders said this switching track is seldom used, and that the city is discussing the possibility of straightening out the main line "dog - leg" by routing it over the present track used for siding purposes. This would make available to the city sufficient land upon which to construct the proposed three - block thoroughfare along the north side of the railroad tracks.

Planners have not determined yet whether a one - way street through the stretch would be more beneficial than a two - way passage.

UNLIMITED POWER?

Fusion Reaction Achieved In Lab

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—British and American scientists today announced a major step toward taming the H-bomb to give the world unlimited electric power.

They think they've succeeded in making hydrogen atoms fuse together to produce peaceful power, in the laboratory.

This atom wedding has been achieved at best for only a few thousandths of a second at a time. But scientists produced temperatures of five to six million degrees centigrade and met other terribly difficult conditions to make it work.

This limited success makes the dream of controlled H-power look possible, the scientists said in jointly disclosing some aspects of hitherto-secret research.

An H-bomb explodes with terrible force because the hearts of hydrogen atoms are suddenly fused together. Some of the atomic material is transformed into energy. To do this takes tremendous heat and pressure, supplied by an A-bomb as the trigger.

To 100 Million Degrees

For peaceful H-power, the hydrogen gas must be heated to at least 100 million degrees centigrade. And the gas must be kept compressed in the middle of a container, not touching the walls, so that the hot, excited and speeding atom cores will smash together and fuse. Magnetic forces are used to do this. Reports now tell of several methods of doing it.

This fusing could produce heat to run steam turbines for electricity, or perhaps the energy might be turned directly into electricity.

Five Men Saved After Tug Sinks

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 24 (AP)—A Coast Guard buoy boat today rescued five crewmen from the tugboat Herman Colle, which ran aground and sank in bad weather at Cat Island.

Search and Rescue headquarters here said Eugene Whatley, the captain, of Pascagoula, was taken from the tug, three crewmen from one barge and a fifth from another barge. Only Whatley was identified.

The buoy boat returned the men to its Gulfport base about 8 a.m. (CST) after answering a distress call at 3:15 a.m. (CST).

J. H. Colle of Colle Towing Co., Pascagoula, owner of the vessel, notified the Coast Guard of the tug's trouble and set off an air and sea rescue mission. An 83-foot cutter, air units and the private tug Cherokee went to the scene.

Alexandria's Tax Burdens Exceed City's

A comparison of the tax structure of Monroe and Alexandria revealed yesterday that property owners in Monroe pay 29.22 mills less in taxes than citizens of the Rapides parish city.

Including his city, parish and school taxes, the Alexandria property owner pays a total of 77.5 mills, while the Monroe property owner pays only 48.28 mills. This includes his city, school and parish taxes.

During the campaign prior to the December 17 vote on the $9,000,000 bond issue, some opponents made an issue of the amount of taxes being paid by property owners in the two cities, charging that Alexandria property owners paid far less than those here.

Overall Taxes

By not considering the overall tax structure of the two cities, this may be true. Those figures would show that the Monroe property owner pays 33 mills, while the property owner in Alexandria pays only 21 mills.

However, this does not give the complete picture. An analysis of the tax structure of the two cities discloses more impressive facts in favor of the Monroe taxpayer.

For one thing, it shows the school tax paid by the Alexandria property owner is not listed on his city tax structure. This is collected by the Rapides parish tax assessor since the only school system in Alexandria is the parish system. But the Alexandria prop-

Reds Reject Plea Of Three Mothers

HONG KONG, Jan. 24 (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai told three American mothers who journeyed all the way to Red China that he cannot free their sons from prison, but he held out hope of future clemency.

Peiping radio reported Friday the frustrating end to the mothers' weary trip, made possible when the U.S. State Department lifted its ban on travel to Red China so as to permit them to visit their imprisoned sons.

State Welfare Budget Hiked By $9 Million

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Louisiana Board of Public Welfare today approved a record $159,990,508 budget for fiscal 1958-59, boosting spending 9½ million dollars over this year.

The proposed budget still faces scrutiny of Gov. Earl Long's legislative budget leaders next month, and after that, the Legislature.

The current 1957-58 spending program of $150,448,552 is the existing record. The program has increased each year.

Welfare Department fiscal experts told the board ample revenues were in sight to support the proposed new spending level.

A total $144,819,446 for actual relief payments is included in the $159,990,508. The figure is based on an expected $91,281,742 in federal aid funds and $68,708,766 in state revenues from the two-cent sales levy.

Current Take Enough

Gilbert Root, welfare fiscal chief, said the fiscal year's sales tax yield should climb to $87,411,085, with the teachers pay program under current law receiving a 17½ per cent share. Root estimated the new welfare program could be financed adequately from anticipated revenues and still leave a balance of 20 million dollars June 30, 1959, close of the next fiscal year.

The increase the Welfare Department proposes is one million greater than the current level of spending was increased over a year earlier.

The new medical vendor payment program, which jumps from $3,107,896 this year to $7,769,280 next year, forms a major part of the proposed higher spending. The new program provides direct payments to doctors and druggists for medical care of the indigent, instead of giving the money directly to welfare recipients.

Chairman James C. Bolton of the board's budget committee said he had reviewed the budget and found it represents "a careful study of proposed budget needs."

Differs Elsewhere

The Alexandria banker said, "while we in Louisiana have enjoyed an increase in sales tax receipts each month over the sim-

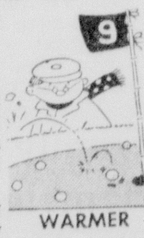
Cloudy And Warm Outlook For Area

Cloudy and warmer is the weather outlook for the Twin Cities area today, with clear skies and mild temperatures forecast for tomorrow.



WARMER

The high and low yesterday were 52 and 33, compared with Thursday's readings of 43 and 34.

Arkansans may look for cloudy skies and mild temperatures today with a few showers, while the forecast for tomorrow calls for clear skies and cooler weather.

No Organized Opposition To Highway Seen

Twin Cities and parish officials yesterday indicated there will be no organized opposition to the proposed route of the federal highway at a public hearing scheduled here Tuesday.

A check with local governmental agencies showed all in favor of the ultra $88-million project. However, some citizens whose property lies in the path of the highway are expected to voice opposition at the meeting, sources said.

Highway officials will conduct the public hearing in the courtroom of the Ouachita parish courthouse Tuesday at 10 a.m. Citizens are urged to attend.

Agencies and organizations that have gone on record in favor of the structure include the Ouachita parish Police Jury, the City of Monroe, the City of West Monroe, the City School Board, the Metropolitan Planning Commission and the Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Checked With Officials

A reporter checked with officials of the local government bodies yesterday, but failed to find any opposition.

The Ouachita Parish School Board has neither favored or opposed the highway, which if approved, will be built above the present site of the Ouachita parish school campus.

The board has asked for "adequate compensation" for its property in the path of the highway.

In the check taken yesterday, it was learned that several local officials are expected to present favorable statements at the hearing.

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard, who along with Congressman Otto E. Passman previously opposed the route, said yesterday he was

Giant Flying Boat Crashes Into Shore

Seventeen Navy fliers aboard escaped with facial cuts, bruises and, in a few cases, shock.

Flying to Alameda from Hawaii on a training mission, with two crews aboard, the two-million-dollar aircraft was crippled some 350 miles from the mainland. Two counter-rotating propefiers were thrown by one of the 5,500-horsepower jet turbine engines.

The massive blades slashed a hole in the hull. The plane, then at 21,000 feet, dropped 6,000 feet in three minutes. The cabin was depressurized immediately.

Capt. Ned Broyles, commander of the Tradewind squadron at Alameda NAS and a passenger aboard the seaplane, told how the plane commander, Lt. Homer C. Ragsdale "fought to level out its flight."

"They leveled out at 15,000 feet and were able to hold this altitude for the remainder of the trip," Broyles said.

A radio request at 7:33 a.m. for escort brought a Coast Guard plane out from south San Francisco. The Coast Guard plane told Ragsdale his seaplane had a hole below the waterline.

As they reached the coastline two hours after the 1,200-pound propellers flew off, Lt. Cmdr. Elbert B. Binkley was at the controls. He eased down over San Francisco Bay, cutting his speed and holding the plane's nose as high as possible.

While crash boats stood by and helicopters hovered over the air station's outer lagoon, the ponderous flying boat touched down

WINNER, S. D. (UP) — Digging crews Friday night recovered the body of a 12-year-old Winner girl from the bottom of a 25-foot well where a young bachelor farmer confessed throwing her after he had lured her into a car and strangled her.

The nude and battered body of Leslie Benedict was recovered from under 300 pounds of concrete blocks in the well behind the farm of her confessed slayer, Paul Edward Huber, 25.

Huber confessed that he threw 40-pound concrete blocks on top of the girl's body after the murder Wednesday in order to escape detection.

The well was only 14 to 16 inches wide and authorities earlier had doubted whether the body could be recovered until Saturday. But the digging crews sank a shaft into the ground alongside the well and the operation was successfully speeded up.

Victim of Own Conscience

Despite his attempts to hide his crime, Huber proved to be a victim of his own conscience. A mass search by 150 persons, five airplanes and blood hounds failed to turn up trace of Leslie since she left for school Wednesday morning. But Huber could not bear the burden of his guilt. After consulting with his sister, he gave himself up to authorities shortly before noon.

Huber took authorities to his farm and pointed out where they could find Leslie's lunch box and where he had hidden her body. A murder charge was filed against him and a preliminary hearing was set for next Wednesday.

He was housed in Tripp County jail here for the time being. But feeling against him ran high in this ranching town of 3,000 and sheriffs of adjoining counties were alerted that Huber might be transferred to one of their jails for his own protection.

Huber, dictating into a tape recorder machine, confessed to State's Atty. Marvin Talbott that he abduted the short, stocky farm girl as she trudged from her ranch home, 15 miles outside of Winner, to a rural school house.

Leslie accepted his offer of a ride in his car, Huber said. But instead of stopping at the school, Huber drove on to the ramshackle filth-infested farm home where he lived alone.

Admits Making Advances

Huber confessed he made advances to the girl and she fought back with kicks and screams. He strangled her Huber said, stripped

Justice Douglas Injured In Auto Crash At Capital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court suffered a slightly wrenched back and a bloody nose in an automobile collision today.

He was being driven to work in a court automobile, operated by chauffeur Westley J. Pittman, when the auto was struck by a passenger car driven by a 15-year-old boy. The boy's name was not disclosed.

Douglas, 59, was thrown against the front seat. Pittman was knocked unconscious momentarily, but recovered and said his worst effect seemed to be that he was generally shaken up.

Douglas continued on to the Supreme Court building in a police car, and sat through a 2¼-hour conference of the justices. Afterward he told a court aide he felt all right.

Douglas earlier had been at Walter Reed Army Hospital, where he had been taking treatments for a bursitis condition in one arm.

The accident occurred at 5th and Longfellow Sts., N.W.

UNLIMITED POWER?

Fusion Reaction Achieved In Lab

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—British and American scientists today announced a major step toward taming the H-bomb to give the world unlimited electric power.

They think they've succeeded in making hydrogen atoms fuse together to produce peaceful power, in the laboratory.

This atom wedding has been achieved at best for only a few thousandths of a second at a time. But scientists produced temperatures of five to six million degrees centigrade and met other terribly difficult conditions to make it work.

This limited success makes the dream of controlled H-power look possible, the scientists said in jointly disclosing some aspects of hitherto-secret research.

An H-bomb explodes with terrible force because the hearts of hydrogen atoms are suddenly fused together. Some of the atomic material is transformed into energy. To do this takes tremendous heat and pressure, supplied by an A-bomb as the trigger.

To 100 Million Degrees

For peaceful H-power, the hydrogen gas must be heated to at least 100 million degrees centigrade. And the gas must be kept compressed in the middle of a container, not touching the walls, so that the hot, excited and speeding atom cores will smash together and fuse. Magnetic forces are used to do this. Reports now tell of several methods of doing it.

This fusing could produce heat to run steam turbines for electricity, or perhaps the energy might be turned directly into electricity.

FOR STREET

Rail Right-Of-Way Use Asked By City

City Engineer Wade Sanders has presented a proposal to the Illinois Central Railroad to convert an unused downtown right-of-way into a 20-foot street, it was announced yesterday.

The plan was designed to solve Monroe's major downtown traffic problem, Sanders said.

The conversion would create a by-pass route to take a "heavy volume" of traffic off DeSiard street, according to Sanders.

Under the plan, an unused right-of-way alongside the I.C. tracks between Walnut and North Fourth would be converted into a 20-foot street.

Sanders presented the plan to J. F. Reents, superintendent of the Vicksburg division of the company.

Straighten "Dog-Leg"

Under the existing arrangement, the main line of the Illinois Central makes a "dog - leg" which begins at the center of the block between Second and Third streets. Continuing in a straight line from the main line turn - off for the "dog - leg" is a stretch of track used for switching purposes.

Sanders said this switching track is seldom used, and that the city is discussing the possibility of straightening out the main line "dog - leg" by routing it over the present track used for siding purposes. This would make available to the city sufficient land upon which to construct the proposed three - block thoroughfare along the north side of the railroad tracks.

Planners have not determined yet whether a one - way street through the stretch would be more beneficial than a two - way passage.

Five Men Saved After Tug Sinks

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 24 (AP)—A Coast Guard buoy boat today rescued five crewmen from the tugboat Herman Colle, which ran aground and sank in bad weather at Cat Island.

Search and Rescue headquarters here said Eugene Whatley, the captain, of Pascagoula, was taken from the tug, three crewmen from one barge and a fifth from another barge. Only Whatley was identified.

The buoy boat returned the men to its Gulfport base about 8 a.m. (CST) after answering a distress call at 3:15 a.m. (CST).

J. H. Colle of Colle Towing Co., Pascagoula, owner of the vessel, notified the Coast Guard of the tug's trouble and set off an air and sea rescue mission. An 83-foot cutter, air units and the private tug Cherokee went to the scene.

Alexandria's Tax Burdens Exceed City's

A comparison of the tax structure of Monroe and Alexandria revealed yesterday that property owners in Monroe pay 29.22 mills less in taxes than citizens of the Rapides parish city.

Including his city, parish and school taxes, the Alexandria property owner pays a total of 77.5 mills, while the Monroe property owner pays only 48.28 mills. This includes his city, school and parish taxes.

During the campaign prior to the December 17 vote on the $9,000,000 bond issue, some opponents made an issue of the amount of taxes being paid by property owners in the two cities, charging that Alexandria property owners paid far less than those here.

Overall Taxes

By not considering the overall tax structure of the two cities, this may be true. Those figures would show that the Monroe property owner pays 33 mills, while the property owner in Alexandria pays only 21 mills.

However, this does not give the complete picture. An analysis of the tax structure of the two cities discloses more impressive facts in favor of the Monroe taxpayer.

For one thing, it shows the school tax paid by the Alexandria property owner is not listed on his city tax structure. This is collected by the Rapides parish tax assessor since the only school system in Alexandria is the parish system. But the Alexandria prop-

Reds Reject Plea Of Three Mothers

HONG KONG, Jan. 24 (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai told three American mothers who journeyed all the way to Red China that he cannot free their sons from prison, but he held out hope of future clemency.

Peiping radio reported Friday the frustrating end to the mothers' weary trip, made possible when the U.S. State Department lifted its ban on travel to Red China so as to permit them to visit their imprisoned sons.

State Welfare Budget Hiked By $9 Million

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Louisiana Board of Public Welfare today approved a record $159,990,508 budget for fiscal 1958-59, boosting spending 9½ million dollars over this year.

The proposed budget still faces scrutiny of Gov. Earl Long's legislative budget leaders next month, and after that, the Legislature.

The current 1957-58 spending program of $150,448,552 is the existing record. The program has increased each year.

Welfare Department fiscal experts told the board ample revenues were in sight to support the proposed new spending level.

A total $144,819,446 for actual relief payments is included in the $159,990,508. The figure is based on an expected $91,281,742 in federal aid funds and $68,708,766 in state revenues from the two-cent sales levy.

Current Take Enough

Gilbert Root, welfare fiscal chief, said the fiscal year's sales tax yield should climb to $87,411,085, with the teachers pay program under current law receiving a 17½ per cent share. Root estimated the new welfare program could be financed adequately from anticipated revenues and still leave a balance of 20 million dollars June 30, 1959, close of the next fiscal year.

The increase the Welfare Department proposes is one million greater than the current level of spending was increased over a year earlier.

The new medical vendor payment program, which jumps from $3,107,896 this year to $7,769,280 next year, forms a major part of the proposed higher spending. The new program provides direct payments to doctors and druggists for medical care of the indigent, instead of giving the money directly to welfare recipients.

Chairman James C. Bolton of the board's budget committee said he had reviewed the budget and found it represents "a careful study of proposed budget needs."

Giant Flying Boat Crashes Into Shore

Seventeen Navy fliers aboard escaped with facial cuts, bruises and, in a few cases, shock.

Flying to Alameda from Hawaii on a training mission, with two crews aboard, the two-million-dollar aircraft was crippled some 350 miles from the mainland. Two counter-rotating propellers were thrown by one of the 5,500-horsepower jet turbine engines.

The massive blades slashed a hole in the hull. The plane, then at 21,000 feet, dropped 6,000 feet in three minutes. The cabin was depressurized immediately.

Capt. Ned Broyles, commander of the Tradewind squadron at Alameda NAS and a passenger aboard the seaplane, told how the plane commander, Lt. Homer C. Ragsdale "fought to level out its flight."

"They leveled out at 15,000 feet and were able to hold this altitude for the remainder of the trip," Broyles said.

A radio request at 7:33 a.m. for escort brought a Coast Guard plane out from south San Francisco. The Coast Guard plane told Ragsdale his seaplane had a hole below the waterline.

As they reached the coastline two hours after the 1,200-pound propellers flew off, Lt. Cmdr. Elbert B. Binkley was at the controls. He eased down over San Francisco Bay, cutting his speed and holding the plane's nose as high as possible.

While crash boats stood by and helicopters hovered over the air station's outer lagoon, the ponderous flying boat touched down

No Organized Opposition To Highway Seen

Twin Cities and parish officials yesterday indicated there will be no organized opposition to the proposed route of the federal highway at a public hearing scheduled here Tuesday.

A check with local governmental agencies showed all in favor of the ultra $88-million project. However, some citizens whose property lies in the path of the highway are expected to voice opposition at the meeting, sources said.

Highway officials will conduct the public hearing in the courtroom of the Ouachita parish courthouse Tuesday at 10 a.m. Citizens are urged to attend.

Agencies and organizations that have gone on record in favor of the structure include the Ouachita parish Police Jury, the City of Monroe, the City of West Monroe, the City School Board, the Metropolitan Planning Commission and the Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Checked With Officials

A reporter checked with officials of the local government bodies yesterday, but failed to find any opposition.

The Ouachita Parish School Board has neither favored or opposed the highway, which if approved, will be built above the present site of the Ouachita parish school campus.

The board has asked for "adequate compensation" for its property in the path of the highway.

In the check taken yesterday, it was learned that several local officials are expected to present favorable statements at the hearing.

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard, who along with Congressman Otto E. Passman previously opposed the route, said yesterday he was

WINNER, S. D. (UP) — Digging crews Friday night recovered the body of a 12-year-old Winner girl from the bottom of a 25-foot well where a young bachelor farmer confessed throwing her after he had lured her into a car and strangled her.

The nude and battered body of Leslie Benedict was recovered from under 300 pounds of concrete blocks in the well behind the farm of her confessed slayer, Paul Edward Huber, 25.

Huber confessed that he threw 40-pound concrete blocks on top of the girl's body after the murder Wednesday in order to escape detection.

The well was only 14 to 16 inches wide and authorities earlier had doubted whether the body could be recovered until Saturday. But the digging crews sank a shaft into the ground alongside the well and the operation was successfully speeded up.

Victim of Own Conscience

Despite his attempts to hide his crime, Huber proved to be a victim of his own conscience. A mass search by 150 persons, five airplanes and blood hounds failed to turn up trace of Leslie since she left for school Wednesday morning. But Huber could not bear the burden of his guilt. After consulting with his sister, he gave himself up to authorities shortly before noon.

Huber took authorities to his farm and pointed out where they could find Leslie's lunch box and where he had hidden her body. A murder charge was filed against him and a preliminary hearing was set for next Wednesday.

He was housed in Tripp County jail here for the time being. But feeling against him ran high in this ranching town of 3,000 and sheriffs of adjoining counties were alerted that Huber might be transferred to one of their jails for his own protection.

Huber, dictating into a tape recorder machine, confessed to State's Atty. Marvin Talbott that he abduted the short, stocky farm girl as she trudged from her ranch home, 15 miles outside of Winner, to a rural school house.

Leslie accepted his offer of a ride in his car, Huber said. But instead of stopping at the school, Huber drove on to the ramshackle filth-infested farm home where he lived alone.

Admits Making Advances

Huber confessed he made advances to the girl and she fought back with kicks and screams. He strangled her Huber said, stripped

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court suffered a slightly wrenched back and a bloody nose in an automobile collision today.

He was being driven to work in a court automobile, operated by chauffeur Westley J. Pittman, when the auto was struck by a passenger car driven by a 15-year-old boy. The boy's name was not disclosed.

Douglas, 59, was thrown against the front seat. Pittman was knocked unconscious momentarily, but recovered and said his worst effect seemed to be that he was generally shaken up.

Douglas continued on to the Supreme Court building in a police car, and sat through a 2¼-hour conference of the justices. Afterward he told a court aide he felt all right.

Douglas earlier had been at Walter Reed Army Hospital, where he had been taking treatments for a bursitis condition in one arm.

The accident occurred at 5th and Longfellow Sts., N.W.

IN MOREHOUSE

Illinois Man Admits Robbery, Burglary

BASTROP (Special) — A 25-year-old Chicago Negro yesterday admitted staging an armed robbery and burglary spree here Thursday night and Sheriff E. L. Hinton said the man is being investigated in connection with two such offenses in Monroe.

Hinton identified the Negro as Raymond Matthews who made the admissions yesterday afternoon following a request to talk to the sheriff. At the time he was lodged in the Morehouse parish jail following his capture by a group of officers at Mer Rouge late Thursday night.

The Negro is charged with armed robbery of a drug store, service station, taxi driver, aggravated assault of a motorist, theft of a truck, and burglary of a supply store here, Hinton disclosed. The offenses occurred in rapid succession beginning about 10:45 p.m. Thursday, authorities said.

The charged man also admitted serving six and a half years in an Illinois penitentiary for armed robbery and burglary, and stated that he is wanted by Chicago authorities now, Hinton said. Nature of the charges now pending in Illinois is not known.

According to Hinton, the Negro fits the description of a Negro gunman who held up a Monroe groceryman Monday night. A similar description was given by three other Monroe grocerymen Wednesday night who reported a Negro man armed with a shotgun attempted to rob them. Investigation of the possible connection will continue today, Hinton said.

Offenses

Reconstructing the Bastrop offenses, Hinton said city police there received a call about 10:45 p.m. Thursday from David Alford, Negro taxi driver claiming he fought off an attempted holdup by an armed Negro man who lost a .22 calibre pistol in the scuffle.

Following at five minute intervals came reports of the robbery of Spier's Drug Store, Economy Oil Station, and assault of Donald Matthes, Hinton said. Taken in the drug store holdup was $75 and $250 was reported taken from the service station. Matthews fought off the Negro's request to drive him out of town, authorities reported.

Parish deputies and state police had joined the search following the drug store robbery and Hinton said he and Chief of Police Ray Sibley joined the hunt.

Evading a roadblock at the papermill where Donald Matthews was accosted, the armed Negro was sighted in Mer Rouge driving a pick-up truck. He fled after deputies stopped him, the sheriff said. Hinton explained that deputies and state police blocked all roads into Mer Rouge, and additional deputies began a search.

The Negro was crouched in an auto when two deputies located him. In yesterday's admissions, Hinton said, the Negro admitted taking five pistols from the A and M Supply store here prior to the robberies. Officials reported the truck was taken from the Lowery Service Station.

Osborn Willis Is Appointed To La. Board

State Rep. Lawrence Gibbs announced yesterday his appointment of Osborn Willis to the La. State Board of Examiners for Sanitarians.

Willis is at present regional sanitarian for the Northeast Louisiana region of the State Department of Health.

He replaces Otha Trapp, who had filled an unexpired term as member of the state board. Willis will be sworn in at the Clerk of Court's office in the parish courthouse here Monday morning, Jan. 27, by R. Dean Farr, Clerk of Court.

Willis holds a bachelor of science degree from Southwestern La. Institute at Lafayette and the degree of Master of Public Health from Tulane University. He has been with the department of health for 17 years, and before his present position was Chief Sanitarian, Ouachita Parish Health Unit.

Heads Society

He is president of the Louisiana Society of Professional Sanitarians, and vice president of the National Society of Professional Sanitarians, receiving that honor in a December 1957 meeting in Oklahoma. He also holds the reserve rank of Major with the U. S. Public Health Service.

The Board of Examiners is a seven-member group headed up by the State Health Officer who serves as chairman, four sanitarians, and two advisers (Deans of Louisiana State University and Tulane University). The board was set up under a legislative act in 1954 to examine and pass on qualifications of prospective sanitarians.

District Engineer Wayne H. Huckaby, in an interview this week, said final plans for the highway would be launched after Tuesday's hearing, which is required by law.

Property appraisals are expected to begin by mid-summer, Huckaby said, but added, "if the Tuesday hearing goes all right."

The hearing will be conducted by highway engineers, but citizens will be given the opportunity to ask questions from the floor. Director R. B. Richardson will be present.

club on ladies' night Thursday.

In pandemonium the program chairman and club president were forced to obtain a substitute speaker inside of 24 hours. They worked with a will over the phone for some hours and with no success. Then the program chairman recalled a former club member, now on the staff at the college, and set out after him by phone. To his delight the invitation was accepted. Next he hurried to call the club president to tell the success he had met. He was informed that his co-worker has also secured a speaker.

One man groaned and his groan was echoed by the other "What on earth shall we do?" was asked.

Careful consideration solved the perplexity. One of the men was informed that he must come to the club as guest, but that he would not be expected to speak, and the other man was told that he would be speaker of the occasion.

Growth

President John O. Clay of the local YMCA tells in the "Y in Action" folder that 1957 saw a continuation of growth of its program in Ouachita parish. Increased demand for more Indian Guide Tribes Gray-Y, Junior Hi-Y and Hi-clubs made necessary the employing of an associate youth work secretary in the person of Robert C. McKee who was added to the staff last September.

On April 16, 1958, the "Y" will officially kick off a million and a quarter campaign for a new and elaborate YMCA building for the Twin Cities.

The Financial Service bureau of the National Council of YMCA's will aid in raising funds required in the construction proposed. The Twin Cities need this new setup and are determined to see that it go through with success.

Pleasant

A pleasurable and profitable evening was enjoyed at Hotel Frances Thursday night when "Ladies Night" was held by the Monroe Civitan club.

Following the serving of the meal, President Charles Lawrence turned the meeting over to Harold Riggs who proceeded to induct one new member, W. A. Colvin, in a highly impressive manner. Four other new members will be inducted at a subsequent meeting.

Speaker of the evening was Dean William Maurice Smith better known as "Bill Smith" by a large admiring following of students. He gave a humorous talk about the experiences in the lower grades as new students approach their daily assignments.

Recovering

Two unusually highly appreciated men of Monroe, who were hospitalized, have come through so far with flying colors. Rev. D. A. Curren, assistant pastor of Lady of Fatima church, days ago suddenly became ill and was hurried to St. Francis. After about five days there he was removed to his quarters at Fatima, where he is daily improving.

The other well known and highly regarded Monroyan is Herman Masur. He became ill about two weeks ago and was rushed by special plane to the Methodist hospital in Houston, Tex. After a few days there, he recovered enough to be permitted to return home.

Characteristic of his indomitible will power, he managed to get down to DeSiard street and greet friends there yesterday. His equal would be hard to find.

Family Of Six Homeless After Fire Hits House

The Lee Jackson residence burned completely to the ground and two houses near by were damaged, firemen said.

Jackson's wife said she was at home with three of her young children when the blaze broke off, apparently from an electrical lead-in wire. She said she noticed the fire on coming out of the house to where her children were playing in the yard.

Monroe and West Monroe firemen arrived on the scene to find the building almost consumed and set about to save the other buildings nearby.

The house destroyed was owned by Emma Henderson, officials said.

Third Street crossings, as well as removal of the present rails used for siding, transfer of the main line rails to the siding roadbed, construction of about 200 feet of new track from the west side of North Fourth to a point near the west side of North Fifth Street. "Frogs" and other incidental facilities would have to be installed.

Cooperation

Sanders said he had received the utmost of cooperation from Reents and other railroad officials. He said he had been asked to prepare a full and detailed letter of request which would be forwarded to Illinois Central headquarters in Chicago. Sanders said he had reason to believe that the city's request would receive full recommendation of district officials in the railroad set-up.

City officials have long been searching for a means of providing relief from the heavy DeSiard Street traffic, and see in the present plans notable steps toward a solution.

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard said that such a new street would go far in relieving the downtown traffic problem, explaining that the business district is jammed constantly with automobiles and the addition of one street to handle through traffic would be of "untold value."

Early action on the city's application for assistance from the railroad has been assured, and the city administration states it is ready to proceed with its part of the project as soon as negotiations are completed.

It was explained that the actual construction of the street would involve a minimum of work and cost, and that the relocation of the railroad track would also be comparatively inexpensive.

WEST MONROE

Tommie E. Morris, 20-year-old resident of Columbia, Route 2, was fined $305.50 or 90 days on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages, when West Monroe City Court met yesterday.

Another person was fined $55 or 50 days on a charge of unlawfully placing garbage and trash on the street, and a third paid a $30.50 fine on a charge of reckless driving and causing a wreck.

One person forfeited a $25.50 bond on a reckless driving charge.

Judge Jasper E. Jones presided.

MONROE

The following cases were heard in Monroe City Court yesterday with Judge W. M. Harper presiding:

Two men drew sentences of $400 or seven months on charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicants. Records identified them as Leon Myles, 28, of 202 S. 10th St., and Bill Mullins, 26, of 808 Alabama St.

In addition to the DWI charge, Myles also drew sentences of $105 or 105 days for speeding, $50 or 50 days for reckless driving, and $25 or 25 days for not having a drivers license.

In other action, 15 persons paid a total of $219 in fines, bond forfeitures, and court costs on charges involving traffic offenses and minor civil violations.

off her clothing, and then half dragged, half carried the small body to the well 100 yards behind his home.

He pushed the body into the well feet first, threw the rocks in after it, and then burned Leslie's clothing, Huber said.

Deputies turned up Leslie's lunch basket lying in weeds near the home and found burned remnants of her clothes.

Leslie was one of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Benedict's seven children. She was reported missing after she failed to return home from school Wednesday.

Huber, a stocky, slow-spoken farmer, lived only three miles from the Benedict home. Records showed he had been arrested on grand larceny charges in Pierre, S.D., in 1954, but there was no disposition of the case.

Alexandria's Tax Burdens Exceed City's

erty owner still has to pay the school tax and therefore for an accurate picture it would have to be figured in his city tax payments.

In Monroe, the property owner pays 18.25 mills for city school purposes, but none to the parish school system. Deduct the city school millage from his city taxes and the Monroe property owner would pay only 14.75 mills as compared to 21 for Alexandria property owners.

The Breakdown

The 21 mill assessment made upon the homeowner by the City of Alexandria lists the following breakdown:

City tax (general fund), seven mills; bonds — 1950 public improvements, 5.5 mills; 1956 public improvements, two mills for fire and police departments; two mills for sewers, and 4.5 mills for streets and grade crossings.

This comes to the total of 21 mills, and does not include taxes for education.

But, down the line, the Alexandria homeowner pays. He pays through his assessment made by the parish tax assessor. His parish tax is 3.5 mills. The parish school tax is 12 mills. School district No. 1 special tax are 20.25 mills; gravity drainage district tax four mills; levee district millage is 5.25 mills, and there is a special maintenance tax for the airport, libary, courthouse and drainage of six mills, for a total of 50.75 mills in parish taxes.

Then comes two mills for state tax, .75 mill for Confederate veterans, 2.5 mills for state schools, and .50 mill for the state university for a total of 5.75 mills — standard throughout the state of Louisiana.

The amount paid to the Rapids Parish tax collector is 56.5 mills. The total taxes paid by the Alexandria property owned is 77.5 mills.

In stark comparison, the Monroe homeowner pays the standard seven mills for the general fund, 7.75 mills on bond taxes, and if school taxes are taken into consideration, he pays 12 mills school maintenance tax, and 6.25 mills for school bond tax for the total of 33 mills.

Alexandria homeowners pay a total of 14 mills in improvement taxes. Monroe property owners pay 7.75 mills. The sister city assesses its residents for maintenance and operation of its airport. Rentals pay for Monroe's Selman Field, one of the state's most efficient airports.

Alexandria owns and operates it water and light system and this turns about $1,000,000 into the city' general fund. Monroe owns its light and water plant and system but operates them under a commission system which turns back only that money which is left over after paying operating and maintenance costs plus payments on retirement of indebtedness.

Each time a Monroe property owner receives a tax notice, the various costs he is paying is plainly outlined. In a breakdown, it reads:

Seven mills for city taxes, two mills for special improvement bond tax, .75 mill for special water works bond tax, two mills for special storm water bond tax, two mills for sanitary sewer bond tax, one mill for fire department bond tax, 12 mills for school maintenance tax, .75 mill for school maintenance tax, 3.25 mills for school building bond tax, and 2.25 mills for school building bond tax.

The Alexandria tax notice lists: Corporation tax, seven mills; bond tax, 14 mills; total, 21 mills.

Garbage collection in both cities is paid through a special individual assessment each month.

On the parish-wide scope, the Monroe homeowner pays two mills in parish tax, 1.05 mills in District No. 1 tax, .25 mill courthouse and jail tax, .90 library bond tax, .75 library tax, .75 health unit tax, and .33 mills in detention home tax for a total of 6.033 mills. To this is added the regulation 5.75 mill state tax, and 2.50 mills levee tax and 1 mill tuberculosis sanitarium tax, for the total of 48.28 mills.

Appeals To Crowd

He appealed to the furious crowd to prove that "the Venezuelan people don't have to be ruled by the machete" — the flat bladed weapon with which police are armed.

An army officer then announced that the police had been removed from the building and replaced by the National Guard and two army units.

In several instances, soldiers opened fire with rifles, usually firing over the heads of the crowd.

But at least one man in a main avenue mob was wounded in the hand.

Stores which had begun reopening closed down again when the mobs began breaking store windows. Parking meters were levelled in the wave of destruction.

In other sections of town, the mobs looted homes of former government officials, carrying away furniture in taxicabs.

Another mob tried to break into the Ministry of Education building.

The crowd at the Dominican Embassy attacked not only in the belief Peron is there but also that Miguel Sanz, the former political director of the security police, had taken asylum there. Soldiers arrived, despersed the crowd and mounted a heavy guard.

The crowd at the Nicagaruan Embassy also was hunting Sanz.

One soldier attacked in the streets by the crowd escaped to join three others who then opened fire and scattered the attackers.

Through it all the government radio over and over repeated appeals for order.

State Welfare Budget Hiked By $9 Million

ilar month in the previous year, the situation has been different in some of our sister states. In fact, some of the other states are currently experiencing a decline in sales tax receipts. We point out this fact because we are not qualified to predict the future trend of sales tax receipts in Louisiana, particularly in the face of the decline in business activity that is occurring nationwide."

The new budget shows for the first time an actual drop in the old age assistance money grant program, from $92,537,684 this fiscal year to $92,122,200 next fiscal year. This was attributed to the impact of the federal old age and survivors insurance program. Some Louisianians in recent years have predicted the federal social security program eventually will ease the burden of the old age relief program in Louisiana, which has one of the most liberal programs in the nation.

The overall old age program is up slightly, however, because the new expanded medical vendor payment program is linked with old age assistance.

Root said:

"For old age assistance, a reduction in added cases is indicated for the remainder of the current fiscal year, and this is primarily related to the benefits of the federal old age and survivors insurance program. A slight reduction in average recipient monthly payments for the ensuing years is estimated for old age assistance, which reflects the increased number of applicants reporting benefits from OASI.

For the other welfare programs, Root added, aid to dependent children, the blind, the permanently and totally disabled and general assistance, "estimates of case load is predicated upon continued additions, substantially in accordance with current experience."

IN MOREHOUSE

Illinois Man Admits Robbery, Burglary

BASTROP (Special) — A 25-year-old Chicago Negro yesterday admitted staging an armed robbery and burglary spree here Thursday night and Sheriff E. L. Hinton said the man is being investigated in connection with two such offenses in Monroe.

Hinton identified the Negro as Raymond Matthews who made the admissions yesterday afternoon following a request to talk to the sheriff. At the time he was lodged in the Morehouse parish jail following his capture by a group of officers at Mer Rouge late Thursday night.

The Negro is charged with armed robbery of a drug store, service station, taxi driver, aggravated assault of a motorist, theft of a truck, and burglary of a supply store here, Hinton disclosed. The offenses occurred in rapid succession beginning about 10:45 p.m. Thursday, authorities said.

The charged man also admitted serving six and a half years in an Illinois penitentiary for armed robbery and burglary, and stated that he is wanted by Chicago authorities now, Hinton said. Nature of the charges now pending in Illinois is not known.

According to Hinton, the Negro fits the description of a Negro gunman who held up a Monroe groceryman Monday night. A similar description was given by three other Monroe grocerymen Wednesday night who reported a Negro man armed with a shotgun attempted to rob them. Investigation of the possible connection will continue today, Hinton said.

Offenses

Reconstructing the Bastrop offenses, Hinton said city police there received a call about 10:45 p.m. Thursday from David Alford, Negro taxi driver claiming he fought off an attempted holdup by an armed Negro man who lost a .22 calibre pistol in the scuffle.

Following at five minute intervals came reports of the robbery of Spier's Drug Store, Economy Oil Station, and assault of Donald Matthes, Hinton said. Taken in the drug store holdup was $75 and $250 was reported taken from the service station. Matthews fought off the Negro's request to drive him out of town, authorities reported.

Parish deputies and state police had joined the search following the drug store robbery and Hinton said he and Chief of Police Ray Sibley joined the hunt.

Evading a roadblock at the papermill where Donald Matthews was accosted, the armed Negro was sighted in Mer Rouge driving a pick-up truck. He fled after deputies stopped him, the sheriff said. Hinton explained that deputies and state police blocked all roads into Mer Rouge, and additional deputies began a search.

The Negro was crouched in an auto when two deputies located him. In yesterday's admissions, Hinton said, the Negro admitted taking five pistols from the A and M Supply store here prior to the robberies. Officials reported the truck was taken from the Lowery Service Station.

Osborn Willis Is Appointed To La. Board

State Rep. Lawrence Gibbs announced yesterday his appointment of Osborn Willis to the La. State Board of Examiners for Sanitarians.

Willis is at present regional sanitarian for the Northeast Louisiana region of the State Department of Health.

He replaces Otha Trapp, who had filled an unexpired term as member of the state board. Willis will be sworn in at the Clerk of Court's office in the parish courthouse here Monday morning, Jan. 27, by R. Dean Farr, Clerk of Court.

Willis holds a bachelor of science degree from Southwestern La. Institute at Lafayette and the degree of Master of Public Health from Tulane University. He has been with the department of health for 17 years, and before his present position was Chief Sanitarian, Ouachita Parish Health Unit.

Heads Society

He is president of the Louisiana Society of Professional Sanitarians, and vice president of the National Society of Professional Sanitarians, receiving that honor in a December 1957 meeting in Oklahoma. He also holds the reserve rank of Major with the U. S. Public Health Service.

The Board of Examiners is a seven - member group headed up by the State Health Officer who serves as chairman, four sanitarians, and two advisers (Deans of Louisiana State University and Tulane University). The board was set up under a legislative act in 1954 to examine and pass on qualifications of prospective sanitarians.

District Engineer Wayne H. Huckaby, in an interview this week, said final plans for the highway would be launched after Tuesday's hearing, which is required by law.

Property appraisals are expected to begin by mid-summer Huckaby said, but added, "if the Tuesday hearing goes all right."

The hearing will be conducted by highway engineers, but citizens will be given the opportunity to ask questions from the floor. Director R. B. Richardson will be present.

club on ladies' night Thursday.

In pandemonium the program chairman and club president were forced to obtain a substitute speaker inside of 24 hours. They worked with a will over the phone for some hours and with no success. Then the program chairman recalled a former club member, now on the staff at the college, and set out after him by phone. To his delight the invitation was accepted. Next he hurried to call the club president to tell the success he had met. He was informed that his co-worker has also secured a speaker.

One man groaned and his groan was echoed by the other "What on earth shall we do?" was asked.

Careful consideration solved the perplexity. One of the men was informed that he must come to the club as guest, but that he would not be expected to speak, and the other man was told that he would be speaker of the occasion.

Growth

President John O. Clay of the local YMCA tells in the "Y in Action" folder that 1957 saw a continuation of growth of its program in Ouachita parish. Increased demand for more Indian Guide Tribes Gray-Y, Junior Hi-Y and Hi-clubs made necessary the employing of an associate youth work secretary in the person of Robert C. McKee who was added to the staff last September.

On April 16, 1958, the "Y" will officially kick off a million and a quarter campaign for a new and elaborate YMCA building for the Twin Cities.

The Financial Service bureau of the National Council of YMCA's will aid in raising funds required in the construction proposed. The Twin Cities need this new setup and are determined to see that it go through with success.

Pleasant

A pleasurable and profitable evening was enjoyed at Hotel Frances Thursday night when "Ladies Night" was held by the Monroe Civitan club.

Following the serving of the meal, President Charles Lawrence turned the meeting over to Harold Riggs who proceeded to induct one new member, W. A. Colvin, in a highly impressive manner. Four other new members will be inducted at a subsequent meeting.

Speaker of the evening was Dean William Maurice Smith better known as "Bill Smith" by a large admiring following of students. He gave a humorous talk about the experiences in the lower grades as new students approach their daily assignments.

Recovering

Two unusually highly appreciated men of Monroe, who were hospitalized, have come through so far with flying colors. Rev. D. A. Curren, assistant pastor of Lady of Fatima church, days ago suddenly became ill and was hurried to St. Francis. After about five days there he was removed to his quarters at Fatima, where he is daily improving.

The other well known and highly regarded Monroyan is Herman Masur. He became ill about two weeks ago and was rushed by special plane to the Methodist hospital in Houston, Tex. After a few days there, he recovered enough to be permitted to return home.

Characteristic of his indomitible will power, he managed to get down to DeSiard street and greet friends there yesterday. His equal would be hard to find.

Family Of Six Homeless After Fire Hits House

The Lee Jackson residence burned completely to the ground and two houses near by were damaged, firemen said.

Jackson's wife said she was at home with three of her young children when the blaze broke off, apparently from an electrical lead-in wire. She said she noticed the fire on coming out of the house to where her children were playing in the yard.

Monroe and West Monroe firemen arrived on the scene to find the building almost consumed and set about to save the other buildings nearby.

The house destroyed was owned by Emma Henderson, officials said.

Third Street crossings, as well as removal of the present rails used for siding, transfer of the main line rails to the siding roadbed, construction of about 200 feet of new track from the west side of North Fourth to a point near the west side of North Fifth Street. "Frogs" and other incidental facilities would have to be installed.

Cooperation

Sanders said he had received the utmost of cooperation from Reents and other railroad officials. He said he had been asked to prepare a full and detailed letter of request which would be forwarded to Illinois Central headquarters in Chicago. Sanders said he had reason to believe that the city's request would receive full recommendation of district officials in the railroad set-up.

City officials have long been searching for a means of providing relief from the heavy DeSiard Street traffic, and see in the present plans notable steps toward a solution.

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard said that such a new street would go far in relieving the downtown traffic problem, explaining that the business district is jammed constantly with automobiles and the addition of one street to handle through traffic would be of "untold value."

Early action on the city's application for assistance from the railroad has been assured, and the city administration states it is ready to proceed with its part of the project as soon as negotiations are completed.

It was explained that the actual construction of the street would involve a minimum of work and cost, and that the relocation of the railroad track would also be comparatively inexpensive.

City Court

WEST MONROE

Tommie E. Morris, 20-year-old resident of Columbia, Route 2, was fined $305.50 or 90 days on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages, when West Monroe City Court met yesterday.

Another person was fined $55 or 50 days on a charge of unlawfully placing garbage and trash on the street, and a third paid a $30.50 fine on a charge of reckless driving and causing a wreck.

One person forfeited a $25.50 bond on a reckless driving charge

Judge Jasper E. Jones presided.

MONROE

The following cases were heard in Monroe City Court yesterday with Judge W. M. Harper presiding:

Two men drew sentences of $400 or seven months on charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicants. Records identified them as Leon Myles, 28, of 202 S. 10th St., and Bill Mullins, 26, of 808 Alabama St.

In addition to the DWI charge, Myles also drew sentences of $105 or 105 days for speeding, $50 or 50 days for reckless driving, and $25 or 25 days for not having a drivers license.

In other action, 15 persons paid a total of $219 in fines, bond forfeitures, and court costs on charges involving traffic offenses and minor civil violations.

T. D. Waters Jr. Is Man Of Year

OAK GROVE (Special) — T. D. Waters Jr. was named the Junior Chamber of Commerce's "Young Man of the Year" for Oak Grove at a Distinguished Awards Banquet here last night.

Guest speaker was John C. Wagnon, Farmerville attorney and former Fifth District commander of the American Legion. His topic was "Current Events."

Mayor D. D. Fiske presented the Distinguished Service Award to Waters who was chairman of the West Carroll beauty contest last year. He also is an outstanding church worker.

off her clothing, and then half dragged, half carried the small body to the well 100 yards behind his home.

He pushed the body into the well feet first, threw the rocks in after it, and then burned Leslie's clothing, Huber said.

Deputies turned up Leslie's lunch basket lying in weeds near the home and found burned remnants of her clothes.

Leslie was one of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Benedict's seven children. She was reported missing after she failed to return home from school Wednesday.

Huber, a stocky, slow - spoken farmer, lived only three miles from the Benedict home. Records showed he had been arrested on grand larceny charges in Pierre, S.D., in 1954, but there was no disposition of the case.

Alexandria's Tax Burdens Exceed City's

erty owner still has to pay the school tax and therefore for an accurate picture it would have to be figured in his city tax payments.

In Monroe, the property owner pays 18.25 mills for city school purposes, but none to the parish school system. Deduct the city school millage from his city taxes and the Monroe property owner would pay only 14.75 mills as compared to 21 for Alexandria property owners.

The Breakdown

The 21 mill assessment made upon the homeowner by the City of Alexandria lists the following breakdown:

City tax (general fund), seven mills; bonds — 1950 public improvements, 5.5 mills; 1956 public improvements, two mills for fire and police departments; two mills for sewers, and 4.5 mills for streets and grade crossings.

This comes to the total of 21 mills, and does not include taxes for education.

But, down the line, the Alexandria homeowner pays. He pays through his assessment made by the parish tax assessor. His parish tax is 3.5 mills. The parish school tax is 12 mills. School district No. 1 special tax are 20.25 mills; gravity drainage district tax four mills; levee district millage is 5.25 mills, and there is a special maintenance tax for the airport, libary, courthouse and drainage of six mills, for a total of 50.75 mills in parish taxes.

Then comes two mills for state tax, .75 mill for Confederate veterans, 2.5 mills for state schools, and .50 mill for the state university for a total of 5.75 mills — standard throughout the state of Louisiana.

The amount paid to the Rapids Parish tax collector is 56.5 mills. The total taxes paid by the Alexandria property owned is 77.5 mills.

In stark comparison, the Monroe homeowner pays the standard seven mills for the general fund, 7.75 mills on bond taxes, and if school taxes are taken into consideration, he pays 12 mills school maintenance tax, and 6.25 mills for school bond tax for the total of 33 mills.

The Monroe property owner pays nothing to the Ouachita Parish tax collector for school purposes.

Alexandria homeowners pay a total of 14 mills in improvement taxes. Monroe property owners pay 7.75 mills. The sister city assesses its residents for maintenance and operation of its airport. Rentals pay for Monroe's Selman Field, one of the state's most efficient airports.

Alexandria owns and operates it water and light system and this turns about $1,000,000 into the city' general fund. Monroe owns its light and water plant and system but operates them under a commission system which turns back only that money which is left over after paying operating and maintenance costs plus payments on retirement of indebtedness.

Each time a Monroe property owner receives a tax notice, the various costs he is paying is plainly outlined. In a breakdown, it reads:

Owens Honored For Club Work

Mack Owens Jr., outgoing president of the West Monroe Kiwanis Club, received a plaque last night for services rendered while heading the club.

The presentation was made by R. P. McCay during the 29th Anniversary Banquet and Ladies Night of the group. McCay was president in 1955.

Five Years

Murphy Blackwell and Carl Jackson were honored for a 5-year record, and those attending seven years without missing were Ray Brooks, Hugh Balfour, Gene Scott and Amos Hood.

Buddy Crosby and R. P. McCay were honored for a 10-year record, and A. J. Jester received an award for 11 years.

Those with a 13-year record were W. L. Boone and Tommie Gruber, while J. P. McKee, D. C. Harper and J. H. Rinehart each had a 15-year record.

Jesse Heard was honored for a 16-year spread. Henry Colbert for 9 years, and Tom Hicks and T. John for 23 years each.

Dallas Speaker

Principal speaker for the event was George W. Jordan of Dallas, Tex., a former Monroe resident. Jordan is assistant general manager of the southwestern department of the General Adjustment Bureau, Inc., in Dallas.

Toastmaster for the event was Lucien Branch, and the West Monroe High School ensemble sang.

River Towns Grow

Editors of the North American Newspaper Alliance recently assigned a newsman to inspect some of the inland waterways serviced by common carrier barge lines.

The newsman found that a revolution is taking place in American transportation. This revolution is not in the air, nor over the rails, nor on the highways. Businessmen are turning with increasing attention to the rivers to solve their transportation problems. They have found that businesses located near rivers are able to create more jobs and serve the consumer more economically through advantageous freight rates.

New Orleans, at the intersection of the Mississippi River and the intracoastal waterway, has become the "42nd street and Broadway" of America's river canal system. Last year nearly $1,000,000 a day was invested in plant expansion along the 132 miles of meandering Mississippi River that links New Orleans with its younger, upstream sister-city, Baton Rouge.

A nine-foot channel, such as is now being sought for the Ouachita River, is being dredged in a part of the Ohio River. "When the nine-foot channel is extended to Sioux City," said one official, "it will mean cheaper grain for St. Louis, Pittsburgh and New Orleans."

One criticism directed against river navigation projects is the contention that they benefit only the shippers. Actually, nearly everyone in the country benefits from barge transportation. Not only can the barge lines offer lower freight rates than other means of transportation but they tend to encourage the other haulers to put lower rates into effect. Rail freight rates generally are cheaper northward and southward than eastward and westward because the rivers generally travel from north to south.

Today's modern towboats bear little resemblance to the scows used in early river transportation, although the public does not appear to be aware of this change.

Last year a New York investor was invited by a common carrier barge line to make a trip down the Ohio-Mississippi River system on one of the towboats. Expecting the worst, but in good spirits, he showed up at the wharf with a raincoat and rubber boots, an electric fan for the warm days ahead and his own supply of sandwiches.

Like most visitors to the towboats that ply America's 28,000 miles of navigable rivers, he was in for a surprise. Not only was the boat as clean as a West Point barracks and as sturdy as an ocean liner, but it was air-conditioned, equipped with radar and telephone and served seven-course meals.

The hero of the revolution in transportation is the modern towboat. It pushes hard. Diesel-powered towboats handle cargo loads up to 30,000 tons. They push tows of barges more than a quarter of a mile long—longer than the Queen Elizabeth or Queen Mary.

The toughest battle engineers fight, in working for barge transportation, is not against the rivers but against public opinion. River and harbor improvements have always been held up as "pork barrel" legislation. Many Americans still think of our rivers as local streams, not as a vast system of waterways linking the nation.

Despite the opposition of those not properly informed, river transportation development work has progressed steadily since the days of Mark Twain, who once said it would be cheaper to build a new river than to keep on "tinkering" with the Mississippi. This "tinkering" not only has made the Mississippi but a dozen other rivers navigable.

As other river work is carried on, Monroe continues to seek a nine-foot channel in the Ouachita, which would enable ocean-going vessels to ply this river.

Eastland Honored

Evidence that the fight conducted by southern members of congress for state's rights has not been in vain is found in the honor accorded Mississippi's Senator James O. Eastland by a society of New England women.

The citation came from the National Society of New England Women, whose members trace their ancestry to pre-revolutionary days. This group lauded Senator Eastland for what was termed his "effort to preserve the constitution as the law of the states."

Mrs. Mary McKiege of Brooklyn, chairman of the society's American defense department and the member who nominated Senator Eastland for the award, said other officers accepted her nomination without question.

Mrs. McKiege said she felt the United States supreme court had usurped state powers, especially in its 1954 decision ordering desegregation in public schools. She stated that while she was not opposed to Negroes she felt "they should not be so pushy."

She complained that the Brooklyn-Bedford Stuyvesant section where she lived as a girl was once an area of private white homes but has now been "taken over by Negroes."

Some evidence that the fight of southern congressmen for states' rights was having effect was developed during the civil rights hearing in the senate in 1957. Because of this fight, the civil rights law was narrowed in scope and was made far less severe.

The Little Rock, Ark., Central High School outrage, in which the rights of a state were overridden by federal troops, brought the situation still further to a head. Advocates of race-mixing apparently had expected this action would be approved in the north. On the contrary, many northern papers and people, realizing the dangers to American freedom by that type of federal encroachment, joined their voices with those from the south in condemning the action.

Mississippi has been one of the states most strongly opposed to federal invasion of states' rights. Senator Eastland has been one of the most valiant fighters for states' rights in any state.

The fact that this man from the deep south has won the admiration and commendation of a group far to the northward brings undeniable proof that the struggle made by the south has been worth while.

Domestic Economy Concern Is Expected To Be Greater

Look for both Congress and the Executive Department to show greater concern about domestic economy than intercontinental missiles, space ships and nuclear submarines. Congressional mail this week began to reflect feeling of the country that the spreading recession is the present danger of nation. Defense effort will be stepped up as agreed by both political parties but there is a demand to step up measures to fight the business slump even faster than defense. Changing attitude of the country daily make the Budget sent to Congress by President Eisenhower look more meaningless.

DISAGREEMENT IN HIGH PLACES — Republicans have no monopoly on disagreement on what to do about the country's most pressing problems. Democrats are also divided. On same day Senator John C. Stennis of Mississippi said taxes might have to be increased to care for increased military spending and Representative Wilbur Mills, Arkansas, chairman of Ways and Means Committee, thought present taxes might have to be cut as shot in arm to domestic economy. Outlook as of now is that there will be neither a tax increase nor a tax cut.

ACCELERATING PUBLIC DEBT — There is no longer any doubt that at the end of the four year term to which President Eisenhower was elected in 1956 the public debt will be at a new high. Administration increased the debt more than nine billion dollars in its first five years, despite high business level. Most fiscal experts expect it to increase even faster in next three years—that the debt of $266 billion which General Eisenhower found when he entered office may be $285 billion when his term ends.

ELLENDER'S ARMY—Watch for a winning coalition to form behind Senator Allan Ellender of Louisiana to fight cuts for veterans and farm aid and to slash foreign aid. Republican Senators and Congressmen have carried word to the White House if that proposed pruning of veteran's benefits and farm assistance is carried out they had just as well save their election filing fees. One, Representative Karl M. LeCompte, of Iowa, a ten-term Congressman, quit the race this week

FOREIGN AID BLUNDER — Administration is being told that it put poorest foot possible forward in its Foreign Aid efforts. In recognition of their popularity in Congress Administration last year put strong reliance in former Senator George of Georgia and former Representative James Richard of South Carolina. George is dead and Richards resigned. Plans were to have Vice President Nixon and Eric A. Johnston lead this year's efforts. In a Democratic Congress Nixon may be more hindrance than help and Johnston pulls little weight with either party. Hunt is on for an influential Democrat, but quest so far has been in vain.

HALF AND HALF IN WEST VIRGINIA — Democrats look for a split result in West Virginia where death of Senator Neely makes election of two Senators necessary in November. Democrats think Representative Robert Byrd is strong enough to defeat any Republican opponent, but doubt if former Governor Marland can overcome Republican Senator Chapman Revercomb for the long term.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Police Handicapped By Fast Arraignment Law

Andrew J. Mallory, a rapist, was held by the Washington police for seven and one-half hours before he was arraigned. It took the Washington, D.C. police that long to gather the data, to collect the evidence, to check alibis, etc., etc.

Mallory's counsel went into the Supreme Court on appeal and the Supreme Court decided that the police had held him too long before arraignment—seven and one-half hours. Mallory did not deny that he was a rapist. As a matter of fact, he had been convicted in a court of law at a fair trial and condemned to death. The issue was not the nature of the crime or the crime itself. It was simply how long may the police hold an arrested person to question him and to gather evidence when a crime has actually been committed. On that issue the United States Supreme Court freed Mallory on the sole ground that he had been held too long.

Police officers throughout the country were chagrined at this decision because it handicaps them in handling murder, kidnapping and other criminal cases. If they cannot immediately gather the evidence, they must let the culprit go.

Suppose a murder is committed at 1 a.m. The police are notified that a body is on the sidewalk at 2 a.m. They arrive on the scene. There is a fingerprint which is telefaxed to the FBI for identification. At 2:30 a.m. the owner of the fingerprint is identified. By 3:30 a.m. the alleged murderer is brought in. He has an alibi; it needs to be checked. The hours of questioning, of denial, of added evidence coming in, of confrontation with facts pass. How many hours? Some data cannot be gathered during the night. Morning comes. A new start is made in a dozen directions. It is found, for instance, that the culprit, who denied he ever saw the victim, had been her constant companion for a year. In the end, forth comes a sordid story of love, offered and not accepted, of unrequited passion, of gifts accepted but its giver ridiculed, of annoyance and anger and foul words hurled at each other. Finally, the overt two-timing and the murder.

Are the police to be handicapped by requiring them to accomplish all this in 15 minutes or 1 hour or 15 hours? How long? Senator John Marshall Butler of Maryland last July had introduced a bill for the District of Columbia giving the police a maximum of 12 hours before arraignment. That is a reasonable period.

Under the various protections of the Constitution, the Supreme Court let the rapist go free. But the people are not free from the fear of sex crimes which are on the constant increase. Police work grows increasingly more difficult because of modern means of transportation, to take one facility. A murderer with a well-arranged formula can be in Cairo or Rio by airplane before the police may even be notified that a crime had been committed.

Modern methods of crime detection have not offset modern means of evasion. The head of a narcotics syndicate may be a well-dressed, well-housed, Cadillac-transported gentleman who contributes to all the local charities and is a faithful member of his church. The distance between him and the junkie is greater than the geographic distance between him and the dope market in Tientsin, China. Pushers are caught; users are caught. But this fellow does not associate with such vulgarians. He is a soft-spoken contributor on a local scale to one or both major political parties and probably has a congressmen or two in his pocket, having sponsored such lawyers politically and put up the cash for their careers. He is a very smart man.

Law enforcement grows more difficult as crime becomes better organized. Big crime is now international in its connections; small crime is growing younger and younger. The law is inadequate in some respects; it certainly makes crime detection in advance of commission practically impossible. The do-gooders encourage criminal acts, particularly sex crimes, by their psychiatric and social ideas. Does it do a young lady, who has been mauled, raped and left to die in the woods, any benefit to recognize that the uncontrolled beast who did the act suffered from an uncontrollable compulsion? Does it do her heart-broken parents any good? Does it do the community any good?

DR. CRANE SAYS

Erotic Energy Is Aided By Exercise

Rev. Charley presents a common problem which worries millions of people past the age of 45 who are considering a second marriage. Scrapbook this case or pass it along to your friends and relatives who are in the same boat with this distinguished clergyman. And order the vital booklet named below.

Case X-312: Charley B., aged 57, is a very able clergyman.

"Dr. Crane, I have a personal problem," he began as we visited following my address to his ministerial meeting.

"I have been a widower for 7 years. But now I have met a very wonderful woman, aged 42, who lost her husband a year ago.

"She is a Christian and musically talented. She has poise and is very popular.

"But I have been unmarried for so long, I wonder if we would get along successfully in the physical side of marriage?"

Nourish Love

Many middle aged men and women ask this question as they consider a second marriage, so it should be answered scientifically.

Physical ardor has no date line. Nor is a person endowed with a fixed amount of erotic energy, after which there isn't any more.

On the contrary, physical affection improves with exercise, for regularity of function improves structure, which is a medical axiom.

You readers are thus aware of the fact that a child with a crossed eye should have that eye straightened early, or it may grow comparatively blind just from disuse.

For use of the eye actually keeps it more sensitive and healthy.

By the same token, use of the heifer's udder in supplying milk for its calf will actually cause the udder to become capable of greater milk output.

That's why a cow gives more milk with the fourth or fifth calf than with her first.

And the same principle applies to human mothers who may not have enough milk to nurse their first baby, yet have an adequate amount for the second or third infant.

Glands and Muscles

For many decades Americans have accepted the medical fact that regular use of the muscles will increase their functional ability.

But Americans have meanwhile failed to realize that regular exercise likewise improves glandular function, too.

Yet you readers know that the heavy eater is the one who is likely to be the first to inquire for food at the next meal.

Squeamish eaters, with finicky appetities, will continue to have delicate appetites at the next meal.

Heavy eaters will have the heartier appetite at the next meal. Why? Because the acid secretion capacity of the stomach is increased with heavy eating, so your appetite is greater.

Well, a similar situation exists in the erotic realm. So husbands and wives should never fear the age of 50 or 60, for God Almighty created the human body to function ardently as long as we live.

Child bearing may cease about the age of 45 but child bearing is only an incidental by-product of erotic ardor and is not essential for happy marriage, as millions of devoted couples can attest.

So don't hesitate to marry a second time, after you have lost your first mate by death. Marriage will make you far happier if you select wisely and obtain a congenial partner.

For God told us in the book of Genesis that it is not well for man to live alone, which was why God made Eve as Adam's partner.

To get the proper attitude regarding re-marriage, send for my booklet, "Sex Differences between Men — Women," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

It is also important for all newlyweds, regardless of age.

DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

Boredom Becomes Man's Big Enemy

Boredom is becoming man's greatest enemy. It is said to play a role in juvenile delinquency, alcoholism, and other behavior problems. Oldsters with too much leisure and not enough creative ability or imagination are in danger of becoming afflicted.

Age is an aggravating factor because our senior citizens tend to do less than during their more productive years. In some instances, retirement is forced upon a man and he has to keep his wits about him to remain active. Others slow down — working fewer hours and assuming less responsibility. This type of retirement is better but more difficult to get.

How time is spent depends upon the individual's I.Q. According to Dr. Fay B. Nash, "It takes a highly intellectual individual to enjoy leisure ... most of us would better count on working."

One of the best lessons anyone can learn in life is how to use time wisely. This brings us back to planning for old age, which should begin in our school years. More children go to school today but they spend less time than their forebears learning basic education. This means our future generations will have less background to be able to participate in and enjoy the arts and sciences. They will be limited in finding ways to spend their leisure time.

It is fun to work at a hobby, but sawing wood, pasting stamps in a book, or fishing becomes tiresome when there is nothing else to do. Something more stimulating is needed. Lectures furnish intellectual nourishment. A travel or adventure book takes the reader to all parts of the world and gives him experiences he could not duplicate in real life. But it may be difficult for a 65 year old who never read a book in his life to find pleasure in this activity. The same can be said about painting, drama, and delving into scientific endeavors.

The man who is unprepared for leisure is not getting a break when he is asked to retire. He will be forced to fight for his life to avoid the disease, boredom. Old dogs can be taught new tricks when they are willing to learn but prevention of boredom is preferred. In this respect, all of us must plan for a long life ahead by diversifying our skills and abilities.

OLD COFFEE

S. W. writes: Is it harmful in any way to drink coffee in the morning that has stood overnight?

Reply

No, at least I hope not, as my secretaries often serve me leftover coffee. Staleness affects the flavor but does not make the beverage harmful.

TWO SHOT VACCINE

R. L. writes: Why is Asian flu vaccine given in two shots instead of one?

Reply

The first shot may give rise to 70 per cent immunity and the second brings it up to 80 per cent or more.

SCAR REMOVAL

Mrs. E. writes: Can scars be cured with the new scraping method?

Reply

Yes, if you refer to removal by dermabrassion of scars from acne or chickenpox.

REDUCING AND WRINKLING

D. W. writes: Is there any way I can shed my 25 excess pounds without being left with a wrinkled, sagging face?

Reply

This sequel may be avoided by massage and by losing weight slowly.

LIME WATER

W. S. writes: Our water supply is heavy in lime. Will drinking it lead to arthritis or hardening of the arteries?

Reply

No. If it did, water softeners would be a panacea for victims of hardening of the arteries.

SYLVIA PORTER

Writer Cites Rise In Unemployment

About two weeks from now you will be reading in this newspaper that:

Unemployment in January slid past the 4,000,000 mark and joblessness in our land stood at the highest level since the 1949 recession.

Industrial production in January slid for the fifth month in a row and the pace of decline since summer is now matching the speed of the downturn in 1953-54.

Personal incomes also dropped for the fifth consecutive month in January and the annual rate of personal incomes is ruinning billions below the level of Labor Day, 1957.

The average workweek in manufacturing dropped, and, although millions of workers were making the highest hourly wages ever in mid-January, millions also were taking home less pay because they were working fewer hours than in 1957.

The volume of installment credit slumped sharply in the first month of 1958 as American families cut back buying of goods on time plans but continued to repay loans taken out previously.

Beginning the week of February 10, these stories will be coming out of key agencies in Washington — the Labor Dept., the Commerce Dept., the Federal Reserve Board — and as each official report is released, it not only will make headlines in this newspaper but also in hundreds of other newspapers from coast to coast.

I do not hesitate to predict these developments. I know they will emerge.

For official statistics on our economy trail the facts: January is almost over; the reports the Goverment will be issuing in February will reflect what already has happened or will happen in the next few days.

Even between mid-December and mid-January a year ago — a much boomier period than now —joblessness climbed 765,000. In mid-December 1957, unemployment totaled 3,400,000, or 5.2 per cent of the work force, and since then new layoffs have been reported almost every day.

There it is. The question is not whether the Government's next official report will show unemployment above 4,000,000. The question is only the extent to which it will show joblessness above this mark.

Even in December-January of 1957 industrial production fell. Now, production is in a steep downtrend and the decline is pulling down personal incomes too.

Again the question is not whether the February headlines will report further drops in industrial production and incomes. The question is only how steep the declines have been during this month.

The same goes for the length of the workweek. It shrank in January of 1957. It is hardly likely to have expanded in January of 1958.

And the same goes for consumer credit. In January families always buy fewer goods on installment plans and under charge accounts than in the holiday month of December. Millions feel broke after their Christmas splurge, automatically pull back. Auto sales in most areas are slow in January. At the same time millions keep paying off on outstanding loans. In January 1957 the drop in consumer credit came to almost $1 billion. The drop to be reported for this January will be a whopper.

We are right into the slow months of any year, the period when seasonal patterns normally call for a splattering of minus signs. This February the minus signs will be splattered all over the economic landscape.

Thus, what I am trying to do as seriously and deliberately as I can in this report is to prepare you for the chilling news just ahead.

For if you are prepared for the headlines, you'll not be shocked by them when they appear. You'll not be frightened into suspecting economic conditions are worse than you have been told.

What's more, it well may be that the most gloomy statistics will be appearing just when we're beginning to pull out of this downturn. The speedup and stepup of defense spending, easier and cheaper credit, housing stimulants, etc., must have some impact as spring nears.

Remember: The business statistics and headlines of February will be reflecting what already has happened. You will have lived through the decline which the figures will be underlining by the time the figures appear. Brace yourself for the chill of February and you won't be caught off guard.

Daily Devotions

My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue but in deed and in truth. — I John 3:18.

The old proverb that "Actions speak louder than words" might well be based on the teachings of the Bible itself. All through His ministry, Christ emphasized the fact that mere lip service is unacceptable to God. The thing that counts, rather, is service to God in service to mankind. It would be foolish to believe that God needs our help and that we can serve Him directly. But there are children of the Almighty always about us who need our care, love, protection and our constant encouragement and aid.

Gracious Father, help us to be worthy members of Thy earthly household, serving the needy. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Some data cannot be gathered during the night. Morning comes. A new start is made in a dozen directions. It is found, for instance, that the culprit, who denied he ever saw the victim, had been her constant companion for a year. In the end, forth comes a sordid story of love, offered and not accepted, of unrequited passion, of gifts accepted but its giver ridiculed, of annoyance and anger and foul words hurled at each other. Finally, the overt two-timing and the murder.

Are the police to be handicapped by requiring them to accomplish all this in 15 minutes or 1 hour or 15 hours? How long? Senator John Marshall Butler of Maryland last July had introduced a bill for the District of Columbia giving the police a maximum of 12 hours before arraignment. That is a reasonable period.

Under the various protections of the Constitution, the Supreme Court let the rapist go free. But the people are not free from the fear of sex crimes which are on the constant increase. Police work grows increasingly more difficult because of modern means of transportation, to take one facility. A murderer with a well-arranged formula can be in Cairo or Rio by airplane before the police may even be notified that a crime had been committed.

Modern methods of crime detection have not offset modern means of evasion. The head of a narcotics syndicate may be a well-dressed, well - housed, Cadillac - transported gentleman who contributes to all the local charities and is a faithful member of his church. The distance between him and the junkie is greater than the geographic distance between him and the dope market in Tientsin, China. Pushers are caught; users are caught. But this fellow does not associate with such vulgarians. He is a soft-spoken contributor on a local scale to one or both major political parties and probably has a congressmen or two in his pocket, having sponsored such lawyers politically and put up the cash for their careers. He is a very smart man.

Law enforcement grows more difficult as crime becomes better organized. Big crime is now international in its connections; small crime is growing younger and younger. The law is inadequate in some respects; it certainly makes crime detection in advance of commission practically impossible. The do - gooders encourage criminal acts, particularly sex crimes, by their psychiatric and social ideas. Does it do a young lady, who has been mauled, raped and left to die in the woods, any benefit to recognize that the uncontrolled beast who did the act suffered from an uncontrollable compulsion? Does it do her heart-broken parents any good? Does it do the community any good?

DR. CRANE SAYS

Erotic Energy Is Aided By Exercise

Rev. Charley presents a common problem which worries millions of people past the age of 45 who are considering a second marriage. Scrapbook this case or pass it along to your friends and relatives who are in the same boat with this distinguished clergyman. And order the vital booklet named below.

Case X-312: Charley B., aged 57, is a very able clergyman.

"Dr. Crane, I have a personal problem," he began as we visited following my address to his ministerial meeting.

"I have been a widower for 7 years. But now I have met a very wonderful woman, aged 42, who lost her husband a year ago.

"She is a Christian and musically talented. She has poise and is very popular.

"But I have been unmarried for so long, I wonder if we would get along successfully in the physical side of marriage?"

Nourish Love

Many middle aged men and women ask this question as they consider a second marriage, so it should be answered scientifically.

Physical ardor has no date line. Nor is a person endowed with a fixed amount of erotic energy, after which there isn't any more.

On the contrary, physical affection improves with exercise, for regularity of function improves structure, which is a medical axiom.

You readers are thus aware of the fact that a child with a crossed eye should have that eye straightened early, or it may grow comparatively blind just from disuse.

For use of the eye actually keeps it more sensitive and healthy.

By the same token, use of the heifer's udder in supplying milk for its calf will actually cause the udder to become capable of greater milk output.

That's why a cow gives more milk with the fourth or fifth calf than with her first.

And the same principle applies to human mothers who may not have enough milk to nurse their first baby, yet have an adequate amount for the second or third infant.

Glands and Muscles

For many decades Americans have accepted the medical fact that regular use of the muscles will increase their functional ability.

But Americans have meanwhile failed to realize that regular exercise likewise improves glandular function, too.

Yet you readers know that the heavy eater is the one who is likely to be the first to inquire for food at the next meal.

Squeamish eaters, with finicky appetities, will continue to have delicate appetites at the next meal.

Heavy eaters will have the heartier appetite at the next meal. Why? Because the acid secretion capacity of the stomach is increased with heavy eating, so your appetite is greater.

Well, a similar situation exists in the erotic realm. So husbands and wives should never fear the age of 50 or 60, for God Almighty created the human body to function ardently as long as we live.

Child bearing may cease about the age of 45 but child bearing is only an incidental by-product of erotic ardor and is not essential for happy marriage, as millions of devoted couples can attest.

So don't hesitate to marry a second time, after you have lost your first mate by death. Marriage will make you far happier if you select wisely and obtain a congenial partner.

For God told us in the book of Genesis that it is not well for man to live alone, which was why God made Eve as Adam's partner.

To get the proper attitude regarding re-marriage, send for my booklet, "Sex Differences between Men — Women," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

It is also important for all newlyweds, regardless of age.

DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

Boredom Becomes Man's Big Enemy

Boredom is becoming man's greatest enemy. It is said to play a role in juvenile delinquency, alcoholism, and other behavior problems. Oldsters with too much leisure and not enough creative ability or imagination are in danger of becoming afflicted.

Age is an aggravating factor because our senior citizens tend to do less than during their more productive years. In some instances, retirement is forced upon a man and he has to keep his wits about him to remain active. Others slow down — working fewer hours and assuming less responsibility. This type of retirement is better but more difficult to get.

How time is spent depends upon the individual's I.Q. According to Dr. Fay B. Nash, "It takes a highly intellectual individual to enjoy leisure ... most of us would better count on working."

One of the best lessons anyone can learn in life is how to use time wisely. This brings us back to planning for old age, which should begin in our school years. More children go to school today but they spend less time than their forebears learning basic education. This means our future generations will have less background to be able to participate in and enjoy the arts and sciences. They will be limited in finding ways to spend their leisure time.

It is fun to work at a hobby, but sawing wood, pasting stamps in a book, or fishing becomes tiresome when there is nothing else to do. Something more stimulating is needed. Lectures furnish intellectual nourishment. A travel or adventure book takes the reader to all parts of the world and gives him experiences he could not duplicate in real life. But it may be difficult for a 65 year old who never read a book in his life to find pleasure in this activity. The same can be said about painting, drama, and delving into scientific endeavors.

The man who is unprepared for leisure is not getting a break when he is asked to retire. He will be forced to fight for his life to avoid the disease, boredom. Old dogs can be taught new tricks when they are willing to learn but prevention of boredom is preferred. In this respect, all of us must plan for a long life ahead by diversifying our skills and abilities.

OLD COFFEE

S. W. writes: Is it harmful in any way to drink coffee in the morning that has stood overnight?

Reply

No, at least I hope not, as my secretaries often serve me left-over coffee. Staleness affects the flavor but does not make the beverage harmful.

TWO SHOT VACCINE

R. L. writes: Why is Asian flu vaccine given in two shots instead of one?

Reply

The first shot may give rise to 70 per cent immunity and the second brings it up to 80 per cent or more.

SCAR REMOVAL

Mrs. E. writes: Can scars be cured with the new scraping method?

Reply

Yes, if you refer to removal by dermabrassion of scars from acne or chickenpox.

REDUCING AND WRINKLING

D. W. writes: Is there any way I can shed my 25 excess pounds without being left with a wrinkled, sagging face?

Reply

This sequel may be avoided by massage and by losing weight slowly.

LIME WATER

W. S. writes: Our water supply is heavy in lime. Will drinking it lead to arthritis or hardening of the arteries?

Reply

No. If it did, water softeners would be a panacea for victims of hardening of the arteries.

SYLVIA PORTER

Writer Cites Rise In Unemployment

About two weeks from now you will be reading in this newspaper that:

Unemployment in January slid past the 4,000,000 mark and joblessness in our land stood at the highest level since the 1949 recession.

Industrial production in January slid for the fifth month in a row and the pace of decline since summer is now matching the speed of the downturn in 1953-54.

Personal incomes also dropped for the fifth consecutive month in January and the annual rate of personal incomes is running billions below the level of Labor Day, 1957.

The average workweek in manufacturing dropped, and, although millions of workers were making the highest hourly wages ever in mid - January, millions also were taking home less pay because they were working fewer hours than in 1957.

The volume of installment credit slumped sharply in the first month of 1958 as American families cut back buying of goods on time plans but continued to repay loans taken out previously.

Beginning the week of February 10, these stories will be coming out of key agencies in Washington — the Labor Dept., the Commerce Dept., the Federal Reserve Board — and as each official report is released, it not only will make headlines in this newspaper but also in hundreds of other newspapers from coast to coast.

I do not hesitate to predict these developments. I know they will emerge.

For official statistics on our economy trail the facts: January is almost over; the reports the Goverment will be issuing in February will reflect what already has happened or will happen in the next few days.

Even between mid - December and mid-January a year ago — a much boomier period than now —joblessness climbed 765,000. In mid - December 1957, unemployment totaled 3,400,000, or 5.2 per cent of the work force, and since then new layoffs have been reported almost every day.

There it is. The question is not whether the Government's next official report will show unemployment above 4,000,000. The question is only the extent to which it will show joblessness above this mark.

Even in December - January of 1957 industrial production fell. Now, production is in a steep downtrend and the decline is pulling down personal incomes too.

Again the question is not whether the February headlines will report further drops in industrial production and incomes. The question is only how steep the declines have been during this month.

The same goes for the length of the workweek. It shrank in January of 1957. It is hardly likely to have expanded in January of 1958.

And the same goes for consumer credit. In January families always buy fewer goods on installment plans and under charge accounts than in the holiday month of December. Millions feel broke after their Christmas splurge, automatically pull back. Auto sales in most areas are slow in January. At the same time millions keep paying off on outstanding loans. In January 1957 the drop in consumer credit came to almost $1 billion. The drop to be reported for this January will be a whopper.

We are right into the slow months of any year, the period when seasonal patterns normally call for a splattering of minus signs. This February the minus signs will be splattered all over the economic landscape.

Thus, what I am trying to do as seriously and deliberately as I can in this report is to prepare you for the chilling news just ahead.

For if you are prepared for the headlines, you'll not be shocked by them when they appear. You'll not be frightened into suspecting economic conditions are worse than you have been told.

What's more, it well may be that the most gloomy statistics will be appearing just when we're beginning to pull out of this downturn. The speedup and stepup of defense spending, easier and cheaper credit, housing stimulants, etc., must have some impact as spring nears.

Remember: The business statistics and headlines of February will be reflecting what already has happened. You will have lived through the decline which the figures will be underlining by the time the figures appear. Brace yourself for the chill of February and you won't be caught off guard.

Daily Devotions

My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue but in deed and in truth. — I John 3:18.

The old proverb that "Actions speak louder than words" might well be based on the teachings of the Bible itself. All through His ministry, Christ emphasized the fact that mere lip service is unacceptable to God. The thing that counts, rather, is service to God in service to mankind. It would be foolish to believe that God needs our help and that we can serve Him directly. But there are children of the Almighty always about us who need our care, love, protection and our constant encouragement and aid.

Gracious Father, help us to be worthy members of Thy earthly household, serving the needy. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

YOUR INCOME TAX..NO. 6

Protests Reverse Rule About Expense Accounts

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's an explanation of the internal revenue service's stand on the controversial line 6(a), sixth in a series of eight articles designed to aid you in filing your tax return on 1957 income. Clip and save it for use in preparing your tax form.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Last fall the word got out that the internal revenue service was adding a new line to form 1040 for the reporting of job-connected travel expenses and money that taxpayers spent on expense accounts.

The idea was to crack down on taxpayers living high off expense accounts, but failing to treat this expense account money as income. Putting the new line 6(a) on the first page of form 1040 had one basic purpose: to bring right up to the front the total amount claimed as business expenses. That way it could be checked easily, without opening each individual form. Anyone reporting abnormally high expense accounts would be suspect and probably would be asked to justify his deductions.

There has been a rule on the books since 1921 requiring that all money received on expense accounts be reported as income. Money actually spent on job-connected expenses, of course, could be deducted.

The rule doesn't differentiate between the grocery clerk who gets 30 cents trolley fare to take a box of groceries to Mrs. Jones' house, and the big executive who takes a trip around the world and chalks it off to business expenses

But it the internal revenue service was going to crackdown, it had to get a report from everyone. Thus the official word was that anyone who had any sort of expense account would have to fill in the new line.

Most Lacked Records

The news was greeted with howls of protest. The average taxpayer, who has been breaking even or maybe making a little bit on his expense accounts for years just didn't have the records to back up the required statements. And his employers could foresee thousands of dollars spent in digging up those records for him.

A few weeks later the revenue service backed down. It acknowledged that the decision to add the new line had not been made public until 10 months of the tax year had passed, and hence had a retroactive effect.

Taxpayers this year, the IRS decided, could treat those travel and reimbursed expenses, etc., for 1957 just as they had in the past. But the announcement carried the warning that taxpayers should keep adequate records during 1958 so they'll be in a position to make an accounting next year.

This is what it means to you: If in 1956 you were given $200 in expense account money by your employer and you didn't report it as income you don't have to report anything you got in 1957 on an expense account. That's true whether you broke exactly even, or made a profit.

However, if you reported that $200 as income (which you should have), and then deducted what you actually spent for your employer, you should follow that same procedure this year.

The IRS acknowledges that thousands of taxpayers haven't — in past years — been reporting the comparatively small amounts they get for cab fares, meals bought while working overtime, telephone ca[illegible] stamps, etc. And frankly the IRS hasn't been too much concerned with that fact.

But this much seems certain— the IRS wants t[illegible] t a[illegible] those tax payers who have been using their expense accounts to cheat the government and, thus, other taxpayers. So, this will probably be the last time you'll have a choice as to whether to make a report on your expense account.

Even though you aren't required to use line 6(a) this year, it may be to your advantage to do so.

The items to be included on this line are:

1. Out - of - town travel expenses. This means a trip away from the city where you normally work, and staying away at least overnight. The expenses can include the cost of transportation, meals and lodging, and such things as tips to the porter, baggage charges, cabs, hire of public stenographers etc. You can't, however, include here any entertainment expenses or such personal expenses as getting your suit pressed.

2. Other transportation expenses. This would include the use of your own automobile around the city where you work while on business for your employer, or cab,subway or trolley fares while in this business.

3. Expenses of outside salesmen. This includes all necessary and ordinary expenses incurred by outside salesmen. It applies only to full - time salesmen who solicit business for their employers away from their employers' place of business.

4. Any other job - connected expenses incurred by you for which you are reimbursed by your employer. Unlike the first three categories, in this group your expenses must not exceed the amount you received from your employer. If they do exceed your reimbursement, the additional expenses will have to be entered among itemized deductions on page 2 of form 1040 to lower your tax.)

Expenses in these four categories (remember the limit on category 4) may be deducted on line 6(a). However, any money your employer gave you during the year to take care of these expenses must be included as income on line 5.

Now if your expenses outrun your reimbursement, it obviously is to your advantage to list them. Your expense deductions will be greater than your expense "income," and by that amount you will reduce your adjusted gross income. And the adjusted gross income is the basic figure, the important one, in determining what you owe Uncle Sam in taxes.

Breakdown Required

A complete breakdown of allowable job - connected expenses must be attached to your form if you use line 6(a). You can either do it on a separate sheet of paper, or ask the IRS to send you a copy of form 2106, which is for that specific purpose.

The breakdown should include money spent on transportation fares, meals and lodging, local transportation, and automobile expenses. You should also make a further breakdown of the automobile expenses, showing the amount spent for fuel, repairs, depreciation, etc.

The deductions outlined above are the only ones that can be deducted on line 6(a). The next article will tell you about other job-connected expenses that can be itemized on page 2 of the form 1040 — expenses such as union dues, tools you must buy, etc., and other job - connected expenses for which you are not reimbursed.

WONDERS OF THE UNIVERSE

Missile Age Upon Us; Paves The Way For The Satellites

By DR. I. M. LEVITT

All of us must realize by now that the missile age is upon us and space flight is just around the corner.

Look at the new military budget. Look at the hundreds of American companies going all out in missile development. Look at the huge industrial structures going up for missile research and manufacture.

Look at the huge staffs of high-calibre experts in the field.

All this in undoubtedly going to advance the coming of space flight by months i not years. In fact, the intercontinental ballistic missile is so close to a true vehicle for exploring space that the gap is startlingly small.

ICBM is a huge, complicated two or three stage rocket about 100 feet high and eight to ten feet in diameter, weighing perhaps 100 tons with a payload of under one ton.

It's guidance system is a delicate precision device adhering to close tolerances in terms of speed and angle. The nose cone carrying the warhead must be stabilized and jets of various types used to guide it into its proper "entry attitude." The thrust of the missile will be tremendous.

The power plant, has a thrust of 135,000 pounds. In addition, twin boosters of 100,000 pounds thrust will be used at launching. The instrumentation will be fantastically complicated in order to program, guide, sense, telemeter and check its function.

In short, the ICBM is probably the most complicated and expensive gadget in the history of man.

Yet we are told that within the next few years the ICBM will be fully operational.

THIN LINE

There is an inordinate amount of money and high calibre manpower going into the making of these missiles. Nevertheless missile makers are preparing for a day when missiles may be a thing of the past. Their objective now is to acquire knowledge for future developments.

Missiles, of course, will likely be the first things in space. But they will be swinging through the atmosphere at altitudes up to 600 miles and at speeds up to 15,000 miles per hour — only 3,000 miles per hour under circular or satellite velocity. Scientists point out that one more stage in the rocket assembly or use of the payload for getting more speed would mean the missile ceases to be a missile and becomes a satellite— a large satellite at that!

SAME TECHNIQUE

Before a missile is considered operational, it goes through many experiments, with crews learning launching techniques and the handling of highly dangerous propellants. This training will prove invaluable in the coming Space Age.

In the early years of space travel the same staged rockets will be used. As time goes on, however, these will be enlarged to perhaps the size of a cruiser.

The same fuels which propel a missiles and satellites is a thin a satellite. The same instrumentation and guidance will pilot a satellite into its orbit.

The same techniques used to keep a nuclear warhead from being incinerated on its flight back through the dense atmosphere will be used to solve the re-entry problem of manned space ships.

At one time there seemed to be a tremendous gap between missile work and space travel. Some missile experts even derogated the satellite program when it was first announced.

Today there is a concerted effort by all missile makers to participate in the onrushing space travel field.

Chamber Groups In Action After Program Planned

Eleven committees of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce have swung into action after adopting plans for work during the coming year, president Benton M. Wakefield, Jr. announced yesterday.

Wakefield said the individual committee plans will be presented to the program of work committee, which will adopt an overall program for the chamber.

In pointing out that the chamber will have 365 persons serving on the committees, Wakefield said more persons would be "in action" during the first two weeks of February than ever before.

Vice president Paul Ransom is chairman of the program of work committee. He said the committee will meet to draw up the chamber program on February 19th.

The chamber held its regular board of directors meeting Wednesday and adopted the annual budget.

Registration Schedule Set At University

Registration will be held January 30 (Thursday) through February 1 (Saturday). The first day of classes will be Monday, February 3.

Schedule

Students will register alphabetically as follows

Thursday, January 30 — Last names beginning with Ca-Co, 8 a.m.; Cr-Di, 9 a.m.; Do-Fi, 10 a.m.; Gr-Ha, 1 p.m.; He-Hz, 2 p.m.; Ia-Kz, 3 p.m.; La-Lz, 4 p.m.

Friday, January 31—Last names beginning with Ma-Me, 8 a.m.; Mi-Oz, 9 a.m.; Pa-Ra, 10 a.m.; Ra-Sa, 11 a.m.; Sc-Sp, 1 p.m.; St-Uz, 2 p.m.; Va-Wi, 3 p.m.; Wo-Az, 4 p.m.

Saturday, February 1 — Last names beginning with Ba-Bl, 8 a.m.; Bo-Bz, 9 a.m

Changes in the physical arrangements for registration have been made to facilitate the flow of students and ease congestion. Students will pick up their registration materials and fill out their trial schedules at their individual colleges, then report to Himes Hall to complete the registration process.

France Seeks Emergency Loan From World Fund

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)— France has applied for 131¼ million dollars in emergency assistance from the 64-nation International Monetary Fund.

The French economic chief, John Monnet, submitted the formal request, officials said, with a pledge that Premier Felix Galliard's government will move vigorously to carry out financial reforms at home.

The fund's board meets nextx Wednesday to consider the French plea. Approval is expected.

Monnet is understood to have promised French government moves to liberalize trade with European countries and the United States.

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

Southern Baptists Threaten To Lead

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent

A new profile of Southern Baptists, America's fastest-growing religious denomination, indicates it may nurpass the Methodist church in the next decade to become the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

The 1,544 - page profile, which comes in two massive volumes, is entitled "Encyclopedia of Southern Baptists."

Its avowed purpose is "to give people of other denominations," as well as Southern Baptists themselves, "a guide to better understanding" of the history, beliefs and practices of a 113-year-old religious body that has far outgrown the regional boundaries implied by its name.

Other denominations doubtless will avail themselves of the invitation to learn more about the Southern Baptist Convention. Its phenomenal growth, in the North and West as well as in the South, has long been viewed by other churches with mingled admiration and irritation.

The Southern Baptist Convention was formally organized in Augusta, Ga., in 1845. Finding the anti-slavery agitation of Northern Baptists too much to bear, delegates from 165 southern churches anticipated their state governments in secession by a full 16 years.

For many years after the Civil War, the convention remained a regional body of the Deep South. But in the last few years, it has reached out into the North and West with the kind of all - out evangelical program for which Baptists are famous.

Today there are 755 Southern Baptist churches with 136,000 members in Illinois; 556 churches with 105,000 members in California and sizable contingents in Arizona, Alaska, Colorado, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, Ohio, Oregon and Washington.

What are the distinctive Southern Baptist tenets? One of them, of course, is insistence on baptism by total immersion of the body.

The encyclopedia lists seven other "basic Baptist principles," some of which the Baptists share with other denominations. They

—Reverence for the Bible as the "one authoritative source of religious truth and knowledge."

—Emphasis on "personal faith in Jesus Christ" as the prerequisite for salvation.

—Rejection of infant baptism on the ground that each individual must "come to God for himself."

—Belief that baptism and the Lord's Supper are "ordinances" rather than "sacraments": and that these rites have "no saving power" of themselves.

—The "competency of each individual soul" to gain "direct access" to God without the mediation of any priest or minister.

—A strong emphasis on religious freedom, church-state separation, and liberty of conscience for every individual.

—A unique doctrine of church movement, under which each local church is an absolutely sovereign body which cannot be given orders by an "association, alliance or convention" which it may join.

World Leaders In Chemistry To Attend Meet

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 24 (AP)— Some 400 leading chemists from all over the world are expected at the 11th annual symposium on modern methods of analytical chemistry at Louisiana State University starting Monday.

Nine scientists will lecture at the four-day meeting.

Lectures include Dr. A. J. P. Martin of London, England, Nobel prize winner, Dr. Herbert Weiss of the University of Vienna and Dr. Clark E. Bricker of Princeton University.

The LSU symposium, only conference of its type in the South, also will hear Dr. R. N. Adams of the University of Kansas, Dr. Hugh F. Beeghley of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., Pittsburgh, Dr. Louis Meites of the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, Dr. A. Walsh of Melbourne, Australia, Dr. Frank J. Welcher of the University of Indiana and Dr. Paul J. Delahay of LSU.

Special Chapter Of Toastmasters To Get Charter

Members of the Monroe Telco Toastmasters Club No. 2680 will officially receive their charter tonight at 7:30 at a dinner on the roof of the Frances Hotel.

Sponsored by the Monroe Toastmasters No. 773, officers of the newly - organized Southern Bell group are Clinton Perkins Jr., president; Al Herbert, vice president; William M. Johnson Jr., vice president, and Ed P. Jenevein, secretary.

The group encourages critical speaking and listening.

Guest Speaker

Guest speaker for the event will be Gordon G. Armstrong, well - known Mobile, Ala., businessman and a director of Toastmasters, International.

"Stand Up! Speak Up! and Shut Up!" will be Armstrong's topic.

News, Magazine Editor Expires

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP) — Louis Ruppel, 54, who had a colorful career as a newspaper and magazine executive, died today in Flushing Hospital.

He once was managing editor of the old Chicago Times and executive editor of the Chicago Herald-American. He also served as publicity director for the Columbia Broadcasting Co. and editor of the old Collier's magazine.

At his death, he was associate editor of the American Weekly, the Sunday supplement of the Hearst newspapers. He took the post about 1½ years ago after selling the Mill Valley, Calif., Record which he had owned and published since 1953.

Ruppel's only excursion outside the communications field came in 1933-34 when he was U.S. deputy commissioner of narcotics. He got the post through a friendship with the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, built up when Ruppel was covering Roosevelt's 1932 election campaign.

VFW Conference Is On Schedule

The 13th district of the department of Louisiana Veterans of Foreign Wars winter conference is slated for tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. with the Edwin Brown Post No. 4317 of Jonesboro as host.

Paul Kirby, district commander of Post No. 3993, in West Monroe, invited all VFW members to attend. He said some subjects of importance to the posts will be discussed.

Prentice Darnell Sr. of Bossier City, vice commander of the department, will be among the guest speakers.

Dimes Drive Report Named Homemaker

FERRIDAY (Special) — Ben L. Green, Jr., coordinator of coffee day for the Concordia Parish March of Dimes drive, yesterday announced a total of $89.51 was donated. Participating in the campaign were Cozy Cafe, Concordia Drug, Brocato's Cafe, Gilley's Cafe, Coronett's and the Magnolia Motel. A street drive conducted last week by the Ferriday Kiwanis, Rotary and Key clubs netted $490.92, W. J. (Bill) Burris, parish chairman, said.

YOUR INCOME TAX..NO. 6

Protests Reverse Rule About Expense Accounts

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's an explanation of the internal revenue service's stand on the controversial line 6(a), sixth in a series of eight articles designed to aid you in filing your tax return on 1957 income. Clip and save it for use in preparing your tax form.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Last fall the word got out that the internal revenue service was adding a new line to form 1040 for the reporting of job-connected travel expenses and money that taxpayers spent on expense accounts.

The idea was to crack down on taxpayers living high off expense accounts, but failing to treat this expense account money as income. Putting the new line 6(a) on the first page of form 1040 had one basic purpose: to bring right up to the front the total amount claimed as business expenses. That way it could be checked easily, without opening each individual form. Anyone reporting abnormally high expense accounts would be suspect and probably would be asked to justify his deductions.

There has been a rule on the books since 1921 requiring that all money received on expense accounts be reported as income. Money actually spent on job-connected expenses, of course, could be deducted.

The rule doesn't differentiate between the grocery clerk who gets 30 cents trolley fare to take a box of groceries to Mrs. Jones' house, and the big executive who takes a trip around the world and chalks it off to business expenses.

But it the internal revenue service was going to crackdown, it had to get a report from everyone. Thus the official word was that anyone who had any sort of expense account would have to fill in the new line.

Most Lacked Records

The news was greeted with howls of protest. The average taxpayer, who has been breaking even or maybe making a little bit on his expense accounts for years just didn't have the records to back up the required statements. And his employers could foresee thousands of dollars spent in digging up those records for him.

A few weeks later the revenue service backed down. It acknowledged that the decision to add the new line had not been made public until 10 months of the tax year had passed, and hence had a retroactive effect.

Taxpayers this year, the IRS decided, could treat those travel and reimbursed expenses, etc., for 1957 just as they had in the past. But the announcement carried the warning that taxpayers should keep adequate records during 1958 so they'll be in a position to make an accounting next year.

This is what it means to you: If in 1956 you were given $200 in expense account money by your employer and you didn't report it as income you don't have to report anything you got in 1957 on an expense account. That's true whether you broke exactly even, or made a profit.

However, if you reported that $200 as income (which you should have), and then deducted what you actually spent for your employer, you should follow that same procedure this year.

The IRS acknowledges that thousands of taxpayers haven't — in past years — been reporting the comparatively small amounts they get for cab fares, meals bought while working overtime, telephone ca[illegible] stamps, etc. And frankly the IRS hasn't been too much concerned with that fact.

But this much seems certain—the IRS wa[illegible]ts t[illegible] t[illegible] a those tax payers who have been using their expense accounts to cheat the government and, thus, other taxpayers. So, this will probably be the last time you'll have a choice as to whether to make a report on your expense account.

Even though you aren't required to use line 6(a) this year, it may be to your advantage to do so.

The items to be included on this line are:

1. Out - of - town travel expenses. This means a trip away from the city where you normally work, and staying away at least overnight. The expenses can include the cost of transportation, meals and lodging, and such things as tips to the porter, baggage charges, cabs, hire of public stenographers etc. You can't, however, include here any entertainment expenses or such personal expenses as getting your suit pressed.

2. Other transportation expenses. This would include the use of your own automobile around the city where you work while on business for your employer, or cab,subway or trolley fares while in this business.

3. Expenses of outside salesmen. This includes all necessary and ordinary expenses incurred by outside salesmen. It applies only to full - time salesmen who solicit business for their employers away from their employers' place of business.

4. Any other job - connected expenses incurred by you for which you are reimbursed by your employer. Unlike the first three categories, in this group your expenses must not exceed the amount you received from your employer. If they do exceed your reimbursement, the additional expenses will have to be entered among itemized deductions on page 2 of form 1040 to lower your tax.)

Expenses in these four categories (remember the limit on category 4) may be deducted on line 6(a). However, any money your employer gave you during the year to take care of these expenses must be included as income on line 5.

Now if your expenses outrun your reimbursement, it obviously is to your advantage to list them. Your expense deductions will be greater than your expense "income," and by that amount you will reduce your adjusted gross income. And the adjusted gross income is the basic figure, the important one, in determining what you owe Uncle Sam in taxes.

Breakdown Required

A complete breakdown of allowable job - connected expenses must be attached to your form if you use line 6(a). You can either do it on a separate sheet of paper, or ask the IRS to send you a copy of form 2106, which is for that specific purpose.

The breakdown should include money spent on transportation fares, meals and lodging, local transportation, and automobile expenses. You should also make a further breakdown of the automobile expenses, showing the amount spent for fuel, repairs, depreciation, etc.

The deductions outlined above are the only ones that can be deducted on line 6(a). The next article will tell you about other job-connected expenses that can be itemized on page 2 of the form 1040 — expenses such as union dues, tools you must buy, etc., and other job - connected expenses for which you are not reimbursed.

WONDERS OF THE UNIVERSE

Missile Age Upon Us; Paves The Way For The Satellites

By DR. I. M. LEVITT

All of us must realize by now that the missile age is upon us and space flight is just around the corner.

Look at the new military budget. Look at the hundreds of American companies going all out in missile development. Look at the huge industrial structures going up for missile research and manufacture.

Look at the huge staffs of high-calibre experts in the field.

All this in undoubtedly going to advance the coming of space flight by months i[f] not years. In fact, the intercontinental ballistic missile is so close to a true vehicle for exploring space that the gap is startlingly small.

ICBM is a huge, complicated two or three stage rocket about 100 feet high and eight to ten feet in diameter, weighing perhaps 100 tons with a payload of under one ton.

Its guidance system is a delicate precision device adhering to close tolerances in terms of speed and angle. The nose cone carrying the warhead must be stabilized and jets of various types used to guide it into its proper "entry attitude." The thrust of the missile will be tremendous.

The power plant, has a thrust of 135,000 pounds. In addition, twin boosters of 100,000 pounds thrust will be used at launching. The instrumentation will be fantastically complicated in order to program, guide, sense, telemeter and check its function.

In short, the ICBM is probably the most complicated and expensive gadget in the history of man.

Yet we are told that within the next few years the ICBM will be fully operational.

THIN LINE

There is an inordinate amount of money and high calibre manpower going into the making of these missiles. Nevertheless missile makers are preparing for a day when missiles may be a thing of the past. Their objective now is to acquire knowledge for future developments.

Missiles, of course, will likely be the first things in space. But they will be swinging through the atmosphere at altitudes up to 600 miles and at speeds up to 15,000 miles per hour — only 3,000 miles per hour under circular or satellite velocity. Scientists point out that one more stage in the rocket assembly or use of the payload for getting more speed would mean the missile ceases to be a missile and becomes a satellite—a large satellite at that!

The line of demarcation between missiles and natellites is a thin one.

SAME TECHNIQUE

Before a missile is considered operational, it goes through many experiments, with crews learning launching techniques and the handling of highly dangerous propellants. This training will prove invaluable in the coming Space Age.

In the early years of space travel the same staged rockets will be used. As time goes on, however, these will be enlarged to perhaps the size of a cruiser.

The same fuels which propel a missiles and satellites is a thin a satellite. The same instrumentation and guidance will pilot a satellite into its orbit.

The same techniques used to keep a nuclear warhead from being incinerated on its flight back through the dense atmosphere will be used to solve the re-entry problem of manned space ships.

At one time there seemed to be a tremendous gap between missile work and space travel. Some missile experts even derogated the satellite program when it was first announced.

Today there is a concerted effort by all missile makers to participate in the onrushing space travel field.

Chamber Groups In Action After Program Planned

Eleven committees of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce have swung into action after adopting plans for work during the coming year, president Benton M. Wakefield, Jr. announced yesterday.

Wakefield said the individual committee plans will be presented to the program of work committee, which will adopt an overall program for the chamber.

In pointing out that the chamber will have 365 persons serving on the committees, Wakefield said more persons would be "in action" during the first two weeks of February than ever before.

Vice president Paul Ransom is chairman of the program of work committee. He said the committee will meet to draw up the chamber program on February 19th.

The chamber held its regular board of directors meeting Wednesday and adopted the annual budget.

France Seeks Emergency Loan From World Fund

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—France has applied for 131¼ million dollars in emergency assistance from the 64-nation International Monetary Fund.

The French economic chief, John Monnet, submitted the formal request, officials said, with a pledge that Premier Felix Galliard's government will move vigorously to carry out financial reforms at home.

The fund's board meets nextx Wednesday to consider the French plea. Approval is expected.

Monnet is understood to have promised French government moves to liberalize trade with European countries and the United States.

Southern Baptists Threaten To Lead

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent

A new profile of Southern Baptists, America's fastest-growing religious denomination, indicates it may nurpass the Methodist church in the next decade to become the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

Its avowed purpose is "to give people of other denominations," as well as Southern Baptists themselves, "a guide to better understanding" of the history, beliefs and practices of a 113-year-old religious body that has far outgrown the regional boundaries implied by its name.

Other denominations doubtless will avail themselves of the invitation to learn more about the Southern Baptist Convention. Its phenomenal growth, in the North and West as well as in the South, has long been viewed by other churches with mingled admiration and irritation.

The Southern Baptist Convention was formally organized in Augusta, Ga., in 1845. Finding the anti-slavery agitation of Northern Baptists too much to bear, delegates from 165 southern churches anticipated their state governments in secession by a full 16 years.

For many years after the Civil War, the convention remained a regional body of the Deep South. But in the last few years, it has reached out into the North and West with the kind of all - out evangelical program for which Baptists are famous.

Today there are 755 Southern Baptist churches with 136,000 members in Illinois; 556 churches with 105,000 members in California and sizable contingents in Arizona, Alaska, Colorado, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, Ohio, Oregon and Washington.

What are the distinctive Southern Baptist tenets? One of them, of course, is insistence on baptism by total immersion of the body.

The encyclopedia lists seven other "basic Baptist principles," some of which the Baptists share with other denominations. They

—Reverence for the Bible as the "one authoritative source of religious truth and knowledge."

—Emphasis on "personal faith in Jesus Christ" as the prerequisite for salvation.

—Rejection of infant baptism on the ground that each individual must "come to God for himself."

—Belief that baptism and the Lord's Supper are "ordinances" rather than "sacraments": and that these rites have "no saving power" of themselves.

—The "competency of each individual soul" to gain "direct access" to God without the mediation of any priest or minister.

—A strong emphasis on religious freedom, church-state separation, and liberty of conscience for every individual.

—A unique doctrine of church movement, under which each local church is an absolutely sovereign body which cannot be given orders by an "association, alliance or convention" which it may join.

World Leaders In Chemistry To Attend Meet

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 24 (AP)—Some 400 leading chemists from all over the world are expected at the 11th annual symposium on modern methods of analytical chemistry at Louisiana State University starting Monday.

Guest speaker for the event will be Gordon G. Armstrong, well - known Mobile, Ala., businessman and a director of Toastmasters, International.

"Stand Up! Speak Up! and Shut Up!" will be Armstrong's topic.

News, Magazine Editor Expires

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP) — Louis Ruppel, 54, who had a colorful career as a newspaper and magazine executive, died today in Flushing Hospital.

He once was managing editor of the old Chicago Times and executive editor of the Chicago Herald-American. He also served as publicity director for the Columbia Broadcasting Co. and editor of the old Collier's magazine.

At his death, he was associate editor of the American Weekly, the Sunday supplement of the Hearst newspapers. He took the post about 1½ years ago after selling the Mill Valley, Calif., Record which he had owned and published since 1953.

Ruppel's only excursion outside the communications field came in 1933-34 when he was U.S. deputy commissioner of narcotics. He got the post through a friendship with the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, built up when Ruppel was covering Roosevelt's 1932 election campaign.

VFW Conference Is On Schedule

The 13th district of the department of Louisiana Veterans of Foreign Wars winter conference is slated for tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. with the Edwin Brown Post No. 4317 of Jonesboro as host.

Paul Kirby, district commander of Post No. 3993, in West Monroe, invited all VFW members to attend. He said some subjects of importance to the posts will be discussed.

Prentice Darnell Sr. of Bossier City, vice commander of the department, will be among the guest speakers.

Kirtley, Roach Get Lion Awards

Guard David Kirtley received the Dave McKenzie Sportsmanship Award and end Billy Roach the Dr. W. L. Bendel Best Lineman Trophy at the annual Ouachita High School fottball banquet Thursday night on the Virginia Hotel roof.

Kirtley, a 155-pound senior, was a starter at right guard for Ouachita during the past grid season. Roach was one of the top stars for the Lions last season. The 165-pound senior was selected on the Jaycees All-Twin Cities team and the district 1-AAA all-star first team.

Gay's Player of the Week Awards were presented to 11 players, guard Hulon Carkett, Roach all-district halfback Eddie McGowan, halfback John Housely, back David Barker, tackle Nobel Prewitt, tackle Harold Moore, quarterback Rex Carter, center Tommy Crowe, tackle Don Alexander and Bobby Shipp.

Rev. G. Avery Lee of Ruston gave the night's principal address.

HARRISONBURG MEET

Nine Teams Still Alive In Tourney

HARRISONBURG, La. (Special) —Nine teams are still battling for spots in the final of the Harrisonburg Tournament after yesterday's competition.

Ogden, Enterprise, Block and Monterey are in the girls semifinals with Grayson, Harrisonburg and Enterprise assured of semifinal slots in the boys division with Winnsboro and Pleasant Hill to battle for the other spot this morning at 9:30.

Block boys beat Central, 48-23, with Edwards putting in 10 points to lead the way and Carlin getting the same for Central. Enterprise boys then dumping Block out of the tourney with a 52-46 decision as Cassels scored 14 points for Enterprise and White got 14 for Block. Grayson beat Ferriday boys, 61-43, with Leggs putting in 19 points and Graves getting 17 for the losers. Harrisonburg beat Monterey in the final boys game, 49-48, as Bartmess got 17 for the host team and Calhoun got 16 for Monterey.

In the girls action, Enterprise beat Ferriday, 36-33, with Cassels getting 24 points and Rogers 16 for the losers. Fain's 23 points led Ogden over Kelly, 65-24. Maves and Peavy led Kelly with 9 points each. Block beat Harrisonburg easily, 52-23, with Sikesl leading the way with 25 points and Taliaferro leading the losers with 12.

After Winnsboro boys meet Pleasant Hill at 9:30, Grayson plays Harrisonburg in a boys semifinal at 11:55 with Enterprise to meet the Winnsboro-Pleasant Hill winner at 2:20.

Ogden girls play Enterprise at 10:45 and Block meets Monterey at 1:10 in the girls semi-finals.

The girls consolation game will be at 4:35 and the boys at 5:45. The girls finals are scheduled for 7 and the boys at 8:10.

Woodson Gets Job With New Mexico A&M

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (UP)— Warren Woodson, former Arizona football coach who has amassed one of the best records in modern day college coaching, was named Friday as diretor of athletics and head football coach at New Mexico A&M.

Woodson, who left the coaching scene after the 1956 season to devote full time to teaching physical education at Arizona, has won 117, lost 72 and tied 17 during a long coaching career which spanned 27 years. As a Border Conference coach, his teams have won 83, lost 46 and tied seven in 13 seasons.

Woodson was named Border Conference coach of the Year twice — in 1956 at Hardin-Simmons and 1952 at Arizona.

He replaces A. J. (Tony) Cavallo, who was fired last week after three dismal seasons.

Dr. Roger B. Corbett, president of A&M said Presdley Askew, the school's athletic director and head basketball coach, had requested the directorship be given Woodson so that Askew might give full time to basketball and baseball coaching.

Woodson indicated he planned to give New Mexico A&M a winning team, the first in several years. He declined to comment on who his aides might be.

Streit Shows Way In Helen Doherty Meet

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UP)—Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto beat two seasoned golfers Friday to lead the way into the semifinals of the Doherty women's amateur tournament.

Also advancing with second round and quarterfinal victories were Dot Kirby of Atlanta, Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore and Nan Berry of Quincy, Ill. The semifinals Saturday send Mrs. Streit against Miss Kirby and Miss Downey against Miss Berry.

Mrs. Streit eliminated Barbara Romack Porter of Sacramento, Calif., 1-up, on the 19th hole of the morning round. Then she trimmed Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., 6 and 5.

Miss Kirby won from Gale Fleming of Tulsa, Okla., 2 and 1, and Cookie Swift Berger of Buffalo, N.Y., 4 and 2. Miss Downey put out Judy Bell of Wichita, Kan., 6 and 4, and Grace DeMoss of St. Augustine, Fla., 2 and 1. Miss Berry defeated Betty Kerby of Akron, Ohio, 1-up, and Mrs. John Dyson of Sugarloaf, Pa., 4 and 3.

Joe Brown Puts Williams Away In Fifth Round

Williams, fighting his second main event, was bleeding from the wound that Brown opened up in the fourth.

Brown, 31, the world's champion, aimed at the eye in the fifth and worsened the cut with lashing blows from either side.

SECOND BITE

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (UP) — Madeline Wood, being treated at a hospital for a dog bite on her right ankle, told police it was the same dog that had bitten her five weeks earlier.

Dutra Still Holding Lead In Senior Golf

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UP) — Mortie Dutra of Calexico, Calif., shot a 1 under par 71 Friday to hold his lead in the second round of the National PGA Seniors golf tournament with a 36-hole score of 140.

Playing in a cold wind, the 58-year-old Dutra also won the Bourne Trophy for the second time. The award is made to the low scorer for 36 holes in the 55 and up age group.

Saturday, the younger half of the tourney field, those 50 to 54, shoot their second round and at least five are in position to menace Dutra's lead.

Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N.Y., wearing his traditional knickers, vaulted into a second-place tie with a 144 after matching Dutra's 71. Bert Montressor of Sarasota, Fla., also had 144.

EX-OUACHITA GREAT

Dickie Crowe Signs Pact With Los Angeles Dodgers

Dickie Crowe, former all-state quarterback at Ouachita and the Big Eight League's all-star second baseman last summer, has signed a contract with the Los Angeles Dodger organization for an undisclosed bonus, it was announced last night.

Crowe will report in March to the Dodger's Green Bay, Wisconsin farm club in the class B Three-I League, Dodger scout Tony Johns, who signed Crowe, said. Johns stated Crowe will play third base for Green Bay.

Playing with Bastrop, Crowe hit .365 and was selected on the all-star team at second base in the semi-pro Big Eight League in 1957.

One of the most versatile athletes ever produced at Ouachita, Crowe was a four-year letterman in baseball at the parish school and lettered three years in basketball and football. Probably more famous locally for this football prowess than his baseball ability, he climaxed his high school grid career by making the 1956 AAA all-state team at quarterback despite playing with a losing team.

Crowe received an athletic scholarship to Oklahoma State at the end of his senior season and was the starting quarterback for the Cowboy freshman team last year.

Besides playing baseball for Ouachita while in high school Crowe played on the Monroe American Legion Junior baseball team in 1954, 1955 and 1956. In 1956 he was selected the Most Outstanding Player on the team.

Dickie, whose brother Tommy, a catcher, was named the Legion team's Most Outstanding Player last season, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Crowe of 1602 Florida in Monroe.

Marilyn Has Stroke Lead In Golf Meet

LAKE WORTH, Fla., (UP) — Veteran Marilynn Smith of Wichita kept her drives and putting under control in a brisk wind and heavy shower Friday to take a one-stroke lead in the $5,000 Lake Worth Women's Invitational golf tournament.

The blonde Kansan fashioned a 3-over-women's par 73 over the soggy Lake Worth Country Club course.

Tied for second at 74 in the 54-hole event were Betty Dodd, San Antonio, Tex., and Bonnie Randolph, Columbus, Ohio.

The playing conditions were so bad after nearly two days of rain that defending champion Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., and last year's runner up Fay Crocker Montevideo, Uruguay, fell three strokes off the pace at 77.

Kirtley, Roach Get Lion Awards

Guard David Kirtley received the Dave McKenzie Sportsmanship Award and end Billy Roach the Dr. W. L. Bendel Best Lineman Trophy at the annual Ouachita High School fotball banquet Thursday night on the Virginia Hotel roof.

Kirtley, a 155-pound senior, was a starter at right guard for Ouachita during the past grid season. Roach was one of the top stars for the Lions last season. The 165-pound senior was selected on the Jaycees All-Twin Cities team and the district 1-AAA all-star first team.

Gay's Player of the Week Awards were presented to 11 players, guard Hulon Carkett, Roach all-district halfback Eddie McGowan, halfback John Housely, back David Barker, tackle Nobel Prewitt, tackle Harold Moore, quarterback Rex Carter, center Tommy Crowe, tackle Don Alexander and Bobby Shipp.

Rev. G. Avery Lee of Ruston gave the night's principal address.

Woodson Gets Job With New Mexico A&M

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (UP) — Warren Woodson, former Arizona football coach who has amassed one of the best records in modern day college coaching, was named Friday as director of athletics and head football coach at New Mexico A&M.

Woodson, who left the coaching scene after the 1956 season to devote full time to teaching physical education at Arizona, has won 117, lost 72 and tied 17 during a long coaching career which spanned 27 years. As a Border Conference coach, his teams have won 83, lost 46 and tied seven in 13 seasons.

Woodson was named Border Conference coach of the Year twice — in 1956 at Hardin-Simmons and 1952 at Arizona.

He replaces A. J. (Tony) Cavallo, who was fired last week after three dismal seasons.

Dr. Roger B. Corbett, president of A&M said Presdley Askew, the school's athletic director and head basketball coach, had requested the directorship be given Woodson so that Askew might give full time to basketball and baseball coaching.

Woodson indicated he planned to give New Mexico A&M a winning team, the first in several years. He declined to comment on who his aides might be.

Fiske Union girls vs. North Monroe, 9 a.m.; South Monroe girls vs. St. Matthew's, 10 a.m.; South Monroe boys vs. Rayville, 1 p.m.; North Monroe boys vs. St. Matthew's, 2 p.m.

Consolation games are scheduled for 6 and 7 p.m., and the championships for 8 and 9 o'clock tonight.

Yesterday's second-day results in the boys' division saw St. Matthew's stop Farmerville, 30-26; North Monroe trip Swartz, 29-26; Rayville master Bastrop, 24-17; and South Monroe whip Woodlawn, 26-10.

Accardo was high scorer of the day with 17 points for St. Matthew's. Other team leaders in the boys' division were Rich, Farmerville, 12; Gwin North Monroe, 12; Miller, Rayville, and Westley, Bastrop, 11 each; Kincaid, Swartz, 10; Gilley, DuBois, and Keith, South Monroe, 6 each; and Hardwick and Thompson, Woodlawn, 4 each.

In the girls' division yesterday Fiske Union eliminated Ouachita, 20-16; North Monroe tagged Start, 26-16; and South Monroe beat Logtown, 27-12.

Masur of North Monroe led the girls' scoring with 14 points. Carolyn Courson hooped 11 for South Monroe; Counts had ten for start; Boutwell of Fiske Union and Reece of Ouachita each hooped eight, and Arrant led Logtown with seven.

Simsboro Again Champ; Calhoun Sextet In Draw

CALHOUN, La. (Special) — The Simsboro High Tigers clinched the championship of district 3 - B basketball here last night by defeating the Calhoun Chiefs, 65-49, but the Calhoun girls stopped Simsboro's sextet, 62-41, to deadlock for the lead.

The Calhoun and Simsboro girls will meet next Tuesday night at Simsboro in a play-off for the district championship. Joyce Saxon led the Calhoun girls last night to keep their hopes alive.

J. B. Edminston led the Simsboro quint to its repeat as district champion with 25 points, backed by Alexander and Lewis with 10 each. Jerry Aulds dumped in 15 points for Calhoun, supported by Johnny Grant with 10, Scotty Sims with nine, and the newest Chieftian, Troy Warren, with nine.

While the Calhoun girls are at Simsboro Tuesday night, the Chieftians will take on the Choudrant quintet.

Dutra Still Holding Lead In Senior Golf

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UP) — Mortie Dutra of Calexico, Calif., shot a 1 under par 71 Friday to hold his lead in the second round of the National PGA Seniors golf tournament with a 36-hole score of 140.

Playing in a cold wind, the 58-year-old Dutra also won the Bourne Trophy for the second time. The award is made to the low scorer for 36 holes in the 55 and up age group.

Saturday, the younger half of the tourney field, those 50 to 54, shoot their second round and at least five are in position to menace Dutra's lead.

Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N.Y., wearing his traditional knickers, vaulted into a second-place tie with a 144 after matching Dutra's 71. Bert Montressor of Sarasota, Fla., also had 144.

Streit Shows Way In Helen Doherty Meet

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UP)—Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto beat two seasoned golfers Friday to lead the way into the semifinals of the Doherty women's amateur tournament.

Also advancing with second round and quarterfinal victories were Dot Kirby of Atlanta, Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore and Nan Berry of Quincy, Ill. The semifinals Saturday send Mrs. Streit against Miss Kirby and Miss Downey against Miss Berry.

Mrs. Streit eliminated Barbara Romack Porter of Sacramento, Calif., 1-up, on the 19th hole of the morning round. Then she trimmed Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., 6 and 5.

Miss Kirby won from Gale Fleming of Tulsa, Okla., 2 and 1, and Cookie Swift Berger of Buffalo, N.Y., 4 and 2. Miss Downey put out Judy Bell of Wichita, Kan., 6 and 4, and Grace DeMoss of St. Augustine, Fla., 2 and 1. Miss Berry defeated Betty Kerby of Akron, Ohio, 1-up, and Mrs. John Dyson of Sugarloaf, Pa., 4 and 3.

Joe Brown Puts Williams Away In Fifth Round

Williams, fighting his second main event, was bleeding from the wound that Brown opened up in the fourth.

Brown, 31, the world's champion, aimed at the eye in the fifth and worsened the cut with lashing blows from either side.

AT LAKE PROVIDENCE

Oak Grove Girls Win In Overtime

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La. (Special)—Oak Grove girls took a 44-42 three-overtime victory over Pioneer to highlight action in the second day of the Lake Providence Invitational Tournament yesterday.

In other girls games, St. Francis Xavier of Vicksburg defeated Forest in another thriller, 32-30, and Delhi beat Kilbourne, 41-23. In boys competition, Forest whipped Tallulah, 48-32, Fort Necessity beat Holly Ridge, 58-32, and Lake Providence won two games, 50-38 over Delhi and 53-47 over Pioneer.

Thompson paced Oak Grove girls to their victory with 28 points but Ross got 31 for Pioneer in the game's best effort. Crowe's 19 points led St. Francis Xavier with Meyers of Forest getting 24 points. Robins had 21 for Delhi and Smith led Kilbourne with 9.

Butler of Forest and Neumann led their team's scoring in a boys game with 16 and 13 points respectively. Wilson had 14 points to lead Lake Providence in their game with Delhi and Smith topped the losers with 15. Edmondnon was Lake Providence's top man in the game with Pioneer with 17 points but Blackman of the losers was top for the game with 28 points. Massey had 18 points to pace the Fort Necessity win with Spurlock getting 14 for Holly Ridge.

Holly Ridge was playing without the services of their top star, all-state Kenneth Futch who suffered a brain concussion in a game with Delhi this week.

Today Oak Grove girls begin the competition by meeting St. Francis Xavier at 10 a.m. Delhi girls play Lake Providence at 11:20 a.m and Oak Grove boys meet Lake Providence at 12:40 and Forest plays Fort Necessity boys at 2. All these games are semi-final affairs. The finals will be at 7 and 8.

NARLESKI ON BLOCK

Indians Tempt Yankees, Tigers With Trade Bait

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane dangled relief ace Ray Narleski before the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers today, hoping for a deal that would bring a solid second baseman to his Cleveland Indians.

The new general manager of the Tribe has been dueling off and on with both clubs for several weeks. He hopes to bring matters to a conclusion over the week end as baseball men gather for meetings and the baseball writers' annual dinner.

If Narleski goes to the Yanks, the Indians want second baseman Bobby Richardson and rookie pitcher Jim Coates in return. Lane thinks he has a better chance convincing Detroit that it must block the Yanks' bid for Narleski by giving up second baseman Frank Bolling for the pitcher in a multi-player deal. Other players would be involved in a Detroit deal with outfielder Gene Woodling and catcher Jim Hegan among those who might go to the Tigers.

Reports from Washington that the Yanks might wind up with Roy Sievers in a multi - player deal failed to gain much backing.

Manager Billy Rigney of the San Francisco Giants said he was "pretty sure" of making some type of deal over the week end. He wouldn't identify the other club because negotiations still were under way with a third team.

Cincinnati's general manager, Gabe Paul, arrived ready to talk business with anybody who is interested. Paul admitted the Redlegs were a little short on outfielder strength but didn't think any major transaction was to be expected.

The main business of tomorrow's meetings and joint afternoon session will be the consideration of new territorial rules, governing the moving of big league franchises. A four - man committee, appointed at the winter meetings in Colorado Springs after a deadlock of the two leagues, made several recommendations Jan. 3. The majors will vote on these proposals tomorrow.

Under the recommendations a city with a population of two million would be eligible for two major league teams but the ball parks must be five miles apart. The two - million cities are New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Detroit. Only Chicago now has two teams.

Both majors already have the machinery set up for expansion to 10 clubs but such a move is not on the agenda for the current meetings. The World Telegram and Sun today reported, however, that the National would discuss such action.

Warren Giles, National League president, said before leaving Cincinnati for New York that there was "no sentiment for 10 teams at the present time." He pointed out that the league, at its last meeting, had refused by a 7 - 1 vote to change the rule requiring unanimous consent. Thus at least seven National League teams opposed expansion a little over a month ago.

Under the new territorial rules, a club wishing to transfer to a city in the other league would need only consent of its own league. In the past it was necessary to have unanimous approval by both leagues.

Other stipulations call for a park with seating capacity and other standards acceptable to the league. It also is suggested that a second club moving into former minor league territory that has been occupied by a major league team within the past five years must compensate the first big league team for an apportionate share of its expenses.

It is expected that both leagues will accept the recommendations with a few minor changes.

The majors also are expected to continue the program of aiding the minors through funds administered by Bill Dewitt. They also are due to wipe out all bonus player designations in line with their vote to junk the bonus rule late December.

Pittsburgh probably will be approved as the site of the 1959 all-star game. The 1958 game will be played in Baltimore.

Jim Myers Takes Command Of Ags

Myers, 36, said he will complete his staff within a week and that the two assistants yet to be picked "will not be from this area." He added that he would probably start spring training as late as possible, in April or May, to give him more time for recruiting.

After a shave and a bath, Myers put on a blue suit and was introduced to newsmen by Dr. Chris Goneman, chairman of the Texas A&M athletic committee. He later met with members of the football team. He will stay at the student center on the campus until his family arrives within a week.

Myers remarked facetiously that he felt his car "lurch" when he hit the Texas line "after driving 400 miles on ice." When asked if he was in favor of coeducation at Texas A&M, a touchy subject in these parts, Myers replied: "I will have to take the Fifth Amendment on that."

Myers said he answered the telephone almost continuously at his home in Ames from 4 p.m. Wednesday until 2 a.m. Thursday morning. His signing to a four-year contract at $16,000 a year was announced by the Texas A&M board of directors Wednesday.

Myers said he received many telegrams and telephone calls from Texas and wanted to publicly thank those persons who wished him well.

Halt Matmen At St. Nick's After Brawl

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—All wrestling at St. Nicholas Arena was suspended indefinitely today by the New York state athletic commission as a result of a series of fights among spectators during a tag team bout there Jan. 22.

Six radio cars and an ambulance were called to the arena, and two men were treated at a nearby hospital for injuries when the disturbance broke out Wednesday night. Police also served a summons on the arena "for permitting a disorderly disturbance on a licensed premise."

The spectator fights broke out after the Tolas brothers, John and Chris, had wrestled Chief Red Cloud and Pat O'Connor for about 12 minutes, each gaining a fall. During the third fall, Red Cloud was pushed in the face, and the action in the crowd of about 2,000 erupted.

The commission cancelled a wrestling show sheduled for the arena Jan. 28, and said:

"Further, all wrestling at St. Nicholas Arena is suspended indefinitely, at least until such time as we are completely convinced that those who promote wrestling there are able to do so in the interest of the public and within our rules." rules."

The commission warned against similar disturbances at any arena in the state where it has issued wrestling licenses.

This was the second commission action in two months. Fines were levied against wrestlers, and a future card was cancelled at Madison Square Garden after a near-riot there brought out police reserves Nov. 19.

No Settlement For Big Ten's Cagers Soon

CHICAGO (UP) — A two-game Big Ten basketball card Saturday cannot produce a new leader in the topsy-turvy campaign, but it will force the already crowded holders of second and fourth place berths to move over for new occupants.

Northwestern meets Michigan State in a match which will move the winner into a second - place deadlock with Indiana and Ohio State. Iowa travels to Minnesota for an afternoon TV battle for a promotion to a fourth place deadlock, already enjoyed by Purdue, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Michigan State.

When the scores are in, however, Northwestern and Michigan State will have left the fourth place congregation for better or for worse.

The Wildcat-Spartan battle is a return engagement. The Spartans were 83-78 winners in a television game last week and now both go into the contest with 2-2 records.

The Iowa-Minnesota game is a TV matinee affair which gives either team a chance to move into fourth place. The Hawkeyes have lost two and won three in the league and the Gophers go into the game with a 1-2 record.

Four of the conference scoring aces will see action in the two games. George Kline, averaging 22.6 points for Minnesota, and teammate Roger Johnson, hitting 17.0, will go against Dave Gunther, Hawkeye sharpshooter who owns a 19.2 mark in conference play.

Michigan State's rebound artist, Johnny Green, will play against Joe Ruklick, who has compiled a 17.5 average in four league games for Northwestern.

Jack Clayton To Speak At Sicily Island

Sicily Island Coach Raymond Peace of Sicily Island will present letters to members of the 1957 football squad. The W. S. Back Sr. Trophy will be presented to the Most Outstanding Player and the Dr. W. L. Bendel Sportsmanship Trophy will also be awarded.

The night's speaker, Clayton, coached the Northwestern Demons to a tie for first place in the Gulf States Conference in his first year at the school. A graduate of Northwestern, Clayton coached at Western Kentucky State College before coming back to his alma mater. He coached at Bossier City, Vivian and Centenary College before joining the Navy in 1942.

Thorpe Hanover Brown Jug Pick

Longden Plans Turf Comeback

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 24 (AP)—Jockey Johnny Longden, world's winningest jockey with 5,090 victories said today he is ready for a comeback after being out of action five months because of a leg fracture.

He is booked to ride Blue Decade in teh third race at Santa Anita Park tomorrow but said he would postpone his return to the track if it rains.

Terlep Is Head Football Coach Of Roughriders

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 24 (AP) — George Terlep, former Notre Dame quarterback and backfield coach of the champion Hamilton Tigercats last season, today signed a two-year contract as head coach of the Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Interprovincial football Union.

President Sam Taylor of the Roughriders said Terlep was chosen from about 20 applicants to succeed Frank Filchok, released last fall. Terlep will have a free hand in selecting as many assistants as he needs.

Terep, 35, played quarterback at Notre Dame under Frank Leahy in 1943-44. He later played for the pro Buffalo Bills. He was backfield coach at the University of South Carolina, Vanderbilt, Marquette, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

Last season he was credited with a major role in Hamilton's Grey Cup victory.

THRILLER

Neville Roars From Behind To Defeat Ouachita, 44-40

Neville countered Ouachita's early fourth quarter blitzkrieg with one of their own in the waning minutes for a 44-40 decision over the Lions in a old-fashioned thriller in Neville's gym last night.

Behind, 39-34, with 4:45 to go, Neville caught fire in the closing minutes to win with a bit to spare after having seen the parish schoolboys spurt into the lead for the first time early in the final period.

Neville's girls had something of an easier job in whipping Ouachita in the night's first game, 56-33. It was never much of a contest with Neville, beaten only once, dominating the game.

Coach H. H. Holliman's Ouachita boys, trailing all the way until the final period, made a great comeback themselves but couldn't handle the Neville counter attack. Trailing, 30-24, as the fourth quarter opened, the Lions flashed in two field goals in the first 25 seconds of the quarter and tied the game up, 32-32, with 6:26 to go on Eddie McGowan's field goal McGowan was fouled putting in the basket and sank his free throw to give Ouachita their first lead, 33-32.

After Fred Southerland came back with a Neville basket to put Coach George Davis' Tigers in front again McGowan sank another shot to put the Lions back in the lead. A couple of field goals by a fine substitute, Buddy Norrid, increased Ouachita's lead to 39-34 with 4:45 to go.

However, Neville roared back with five straight field goals without a return with Southerland, Willie Ragan and Francis Genusa doing the honors, Southerland and Genusa twice.

With 1:20 to go, Neville had a 44-39 lead and the best suddenly-cold Ouachita could manage was a charity toss by McGowan with 1:10 left. The Lions were dead.

Ouachita deserved a better fate. They had an awful first quarter, not getting a field goal until after 6:50 had gone and were down, 12-6, at the end of the period. By halftime, the Lions had clawed to within four points of a tie, 17-13, but then fell back to the 30-24 third quarter margin. Then came the race-horse fourth and the final whistle.

Genusa led the Neville scoring with 13 points with Fred Southerland contributing 10. McGowan was Ouachita's best with 18 points with Norrid next with 8.

Neville was never in danger in the girls game and had a 26-10 lead at halftime and increased it to 45-17 with a very productive third quarter.

Ann McDonald put in 28 points, all on field goals, to dominate the scoring for the winners with Betty Hemphill scoring 14. Carol Shipp led Ouachita with 14 markers and Janis Holloway had 10.

Demon Cagers Host Tech Foes Tonight

NATCHITOCHES, (Special) — Ready, willing and certainly able, the balanced Demons of Northwestern State will host their arch-rivals, the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs, here tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Perhaps the largest crowd of the current season will be present for the tip - off, with the always-action - packed contest being the topic of conversation around Natchitoches for several weeks now.

Most of the fans here will be curious to see what Tech's ace forward, Jackie Moreland, can do against Demon defenders. Moreland, averaging some 29 points per game since his enrollment as a freshman at the Ruston college this year, is the fabulous 6-8 player who was sought after by several colleges and universities last season.

Northwestern has a scorer of its own, however, who in his only conference game, scratched for 27 points, to bring his total to 231 in 16 games.

He is little Jimmie Leach, who at 5-9 is almost a foot shorter than the Tech star. Leach, a jump - shot artist, has also been playing an alert game on defense, lately, pulling down his share of rebounds. He has 54 to his credit to date.

The Demons will probably start Leach, team captain Mickey Crnkovic, Bobby Wicker, Phil Haley, and either Jimmy Adkins or Larry Fontenot against the Bulldogs Saturday night, with Elvin McCann and Larry Skinner ready on the bench for quick substitution.

Statistics this week show seven Demon hoopsters have scored more than 90 points thus far in the season. Beginning with Adkins, who has 96, the tally sheet shows Wicker is next up the ladder, with 99, Haley has exactly 100, McCann possesses 116, Crnkovic has 144, and Leach 231.

This indicates the strength of this year's squad in that "everybody gets in the act." Fontenot has 79, Skinner 60, and Pete Walpole 22 to pratically complete the team roster in the scoring column. Free - throw leader up through NSC's 16 games (11 won, five lost) is Leach, who has swished in 75 out of 91 attempts for a .824 percentage mark. McCann is right behind him, having 36 out of 50 from the charity line for a 72 per cent average.

Ex-Alabama Ace Takes Pro Pact With Canadians

VANCOUVER, Jan. 24 (AP)—The British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union today signed former Alabama halfback Bobby Luna for the 1958 season.

Luna, 24, played with Alabama on the 1952-53 teams that went to the Orange and Cotton Bowls. He was with the San Francisco 49ers in 1955 and has been in the U.S. army the past two years.

Corpus Christi Near Oklahoma City Franchise

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Jan. 24 (AP)—E.J. Humphries said today he "was getting pretty close to a deal" to move the Oklahoma City franchise in the Texas League here.

He spent the day in conference with Bob Hamric, owner of the baseball park and baseball territorial rights here, business and civic leaders. He also inspected the baseball park.

"We feel like we have made some definite progress in our talks with each other," Hamric said.

"I think we can get together pretty soon," said Humphries.

If the two can reach a mutual financial agreement, Humphries hinted, he would move his Oklahoma City franchise to Corpus Christi immediately.

Humphries said that if he did decide to come here it would be at least a week before "all the other details can be ironed out."

Humphries said he had talked today with Texas League president Dick Butler and that Butler had told him he had not received any unfavorable league reaction to a proposal to move from Oklahoma City to Corpus Christi.

CASH, BUT NO PARK

Dallas Fails To Conclude Deal For Club Franchise

DALLAS (UP) — The Dallas Community Baseball Association Friday failed to exercise its option to purchase the Dallas baseball franchise of the Class AA Texas League, although association spokesman George Schepps said they had the money.

"The only reason that we failed to close the deal with the Texas League was due to the fact that we did not have a playing site," Schepps said. "We had the money."

League President Dick Butler said failure of the Schepps group to swing the deal did not "close the door" to the association.

Actually, the first option that Schepps held on the franchise meant little as his group was the only party in Dallas known to be interested in acquiring the franchise recently turned back to the league by Mrs. R. W. Burnett. Last Tuesday had been given as a deadline for exercising the option but it was extended until Friday.

Although Mrs. Burnett turned back the franchise, she owns the only sizeable baseball park in the city and terms of its lease may have figured prominently in the jockeying around to save the baseball franchise for the city.

Schepps said Friday night he had held another conference with the attorney for the Burnett interests and also Warner Lewis who was general manager of the ball club when the Burnetts had it.

"They would not commit themselves at all when we tried to find out how much rent they wanted or how long a lease they wanted," Scheppn said. "We asked them if $35,000 was enough money and got no answer. They said they wanted guarantors. We had men backing us worth a net of $2,375,000 and that didn't seem to be enough."

Lewis had a different version. "At no time has Mr. Schepps given us satisfaction that sufficient financial backing was available to make the lease of Burnett Field to his group practical," Lewis said.

'SEVERAL CANDIDATES'

Iowa State Hunt For Coach Opens

AMES, Iowa (UP) —Iowa State College officials announced Friday "several candidates" would be invited next week to be interviewed for the head football coaching post vacated by Jim Myers

Dr E S Haber, chairman of the college of Athletic Council, said the names of the candidates would not be released until the invitations are accepted.

Several names already had been tossed into the hopper. Among them were Leroy Pearce, former Myers' aide now at the University of Nebraska, and Drake Coach Warren Gaer. Both have expressed interest in the job.

The Athletic Council stressed that "no prospect will be invited to the campus until the matter is cleared with the institution where he now is."

The comment apparently was a pointed barb at Texas A & M, which hired away Myers just after he had agreed to a new five-year contract and a $2,000 pay raise to $16,000.

A number of college officials expressed irritation with Myers because of his negotiations for the Texas A&M job.

Boryla Fined $350 For Row With Referee

NEW YORK (UP) — Coach Vince Boryla of the New York Knickerbockers was slapped with the second highest fine in the history of the National Basketball Association Friday when President Maurice Podoloff assessed him $325 for an argument with Referee Lou Eisenstein.

In addition, Podoloff fined Carl Braun of the Knicks $50 for throwing a basketball at Eisenstein in the closing seconds of that same Jan. 12 game against the Philadelphia Warriors. Don Friedricks, the Knicks trainer who was heckling from the bench, was fined $25 for "unbecoming conduct."

While declining to become involved in a discussion of the $325 fine levied against him, Boryla questioned the justice of the fines imposed on Braun and Friedricks.

"What was the true basis for fining Braun and Friedricks?" Boryla asked. "How could Podoloff be certain that Carl was throwing at the referee? It might have just been a long down-court pass."

The only member of the NBA ever fined more than Boryla was owner Les Harrison of the Rochester (now Cincinnati) Royals seven years ago. Harrison, then coach of the Royals, was fined $500 for a dispute with a referee in Tri-Cities (Iowa and Illinois).

The smaller portion of Boryla's fine was $25 for an automatic technical foul called by Eisenstein when the Knicks coach stormed on to the court to argue with him. The $300 was levied for Boryla's scathing tirade that followed.

Boryla became incensed when Eisenstein called a two-shot foul against Richie Guerin with the Knicks leading by two points in the closing seconds of regulation play. Paul Arizin sank the two free throws awarded him and the Warriors went on to win in overtime, 115-110.

6th Life Begins At 40 Tourney Opening Today

HARLINGEN, Tex. (UP)—The sixth annual "Life Begins at 40" golf - week festivities will start Sunday at the Harlingen Country Club.

The week of tournaments will open with a Scotch tourney Sunday with 160 participating. Monday, the women's tournament starts at the Brownsville Country Club.

Austin Club Gets Lowery As New Pilot

AUSTIN (UP) — Harry Lee (Peanuts) Lowrey, 39, has been named manager of the Austin Senators of the Texas League.

Allen Russell, president of the Austin club, announced Lourey, an ex-major leaguer, will succeed Sibby Sisti, who will manage Sacramento next season.

Lowrey, a playing manager, saw duty between 1942 and 1954 with Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Philadelphia of the National League.

Lowrey comes to Austin from New Orleans, where last year he managed the last-place New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern Association.

He hit .361 in occasional duty with the Pelicans. Russell said Lowrey is an "aggressive and smart baseball man. I think he'll make us a fine manager."

NARLESKI ON BLOCK

Indians Tempt Yankees, Tigers With Trade Bait

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane dangled relief ace Ray Narleski before the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers today, hoping for a deal that would bring a solid second baseman to his Cleveland Indians.

The new general manager of the Tribe has been dueling off and on with both clubs for several weeks. He hopes to bring matters to a conclusion over the week end as baseball men gather for meetings and the baseball writers' annual dinner.

If Narleski goes to the Yanks, the Indians want second baseman Bobby Richardson and rookie pitcher Jim Coates in return. Lane thinks he has a better chance convincing Detroit that it must block the Yanks' bid for Narleski by giving up second baseman Frank Bolling for the pitcher in a multi-player deal. Other players would be involved in a Detroit deal with outfielder Gene Woodling and catcher Jim Hegan among those who might go to the Tigers.

Reports from Washington that the Yanks might wind up with Roy Sievers in a multi - player deal failed to gain much backing.

Manager Billy Rigney of the San Francisco Giants said he was "pretty sure" of making some type of deal over the week end. He wouldn't identify the other club because negotiations still were under way with a third team.

Cincinnati's general manager, Gabe Paul, arrived ready to talk business with anybody who is interested. Paul admitted the Redlegs were a little short on outfielder strength but didn't think any major transaction was to be expected.

The main business of tomorrow's meetings and joint afternoon session will be the consideration of new territorial rules, governing the moving of big league franchises. A four - man committee, appointed at the winter meetings in Colorado Springs after a dead lock of the two leagues, made several recommendations Jan. 3. The majors will vote on these proposals tomorrow.

Under the recommendations a city with a population of two million would be eligible for two major league teams but the ball parks must be five miles apart. The two - million cities are New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Detroit. Only Chicago now has two teams.

Both majors already have the machinery set up for expansion to 10 clubs but such a move is not on the agenda for the current meetings. The World Telegram and Sun today reported, however, that the National would discuss such action.

Warren Giles, National League president, said before leaving Cincinnati for New York that there was "no sentiment for 10 teams at the present time." He pointed out that the league, at its last meeting, had refused by a 7 - 1 vote to change the rule requiring unanimous consent. Thus at least seven National League teams opposed expansion a little over a month ago.

Under the new territorial rules, a club wishing to transfer to a city in the other league would need only consent of its own league. In the past it was necessary to have unanimous approval by both leagues.

Other stipulations call for a park with seating capacity and other standards acceptable to the league. It also is suggested that a second club moving into former minor league territory that has been occupied by a major league team within the past five years must compensate the first big league team for an apportionate share of its expenses.

It is expected that both leagues will accept the recommendations with a few minor changes.

The majors also are expected to continue the program of aiding the minors through funds administered by Bill Dewitt. They also are due to wipe out all bonus player designations in line with their vote to junk the bonus rule late December.

Pittsburgh probably will be approved as the site of the 1959 all-star game. The 1958 game will be played in Baltimore.

Jim Myers Takes Command Of Ags

Myers, 36, said he will complete his staff within a week and that the two assistants yet to be picked "will not be from this area." He added that he would probably start spring training as late as possible, in April or May, to give him more time for recruiting.

After a shave and a bath, Myers put on a blue suit and was introduced to newsmen by Dr. Chris Goneman, chairman of the Texas A&M athletic committee. He later met with members of the football team. He will stay at the student center on the campus until his family arrives within a week.

Myers remarked facetiously that he felt his car "lurch" when he hit the Texas line "after driving 400 miles on ice." When asked if he was in favor of coeducation at Texas A&M, a touchy subject in these parts, Myers replied: "I will have to take the Fifth Amendment on that."

Myers said he answered the telephone almost continuously at his home in Ames from 4 p.m. Wednesday until 2 a.m. Thursday morning. His signing to a four-year contract at $16,000 a year was announced by the Texas A&M board of directors Wednesday.

Myers said he received many telegrams and telephone calls from Texas and wanted to publicly thank those persons who wished him well.

Halt Matmen At St. Nick's After Brawl

Six radio cars and an ambulance were called to the arena, and two men were treated at a nearby hospital for injuries when the disturbance broke out Wednesday night. Police also served a summons on the arena "for permitting a disorderly disturbance on a licensed premise."

The spectator fights broke out after the Tolas brothers, John and Chris, had wrestled Chief Red Cloud and Pat O'Connor for about 12 minutes, each gaining a fall. During the third fall, Red Cloud was pushed in the face, and the action in the crowd of about 2,000 erupted.

The commission cancelled a wrestling show sheduled for the arena Jan. 28, and said:

"Further, all wrestling at St. Nicholas Arena is suspended indefinitely, at least until such time as we are completely convinced that those who promote wrestling there are able to do so in the interest of the public and within our rules." rules."

The commission warned against similar disturbances at any arena in the state where it has issued wrestling licenses.

This was the second commission action in two months. Fines were levied against wrestlers, and a future card was cancelled at Madison Square Garden after a near-riot there brought out police reserves Nov. 19.

No Settlement For Big Ten's Cagers Soon

CHICAGO (UP) — A two-game Big Ten basketball card Saturday cannot produce a new leader in the topsy-turvy campaign, but it will force the already crowded holders of second and fourth place berths to move over for new occupants.

Northwestern meets Michigan State in a match which will move the winner into a second - place deadlock with Indiana and Ohio State. Iowa travels to Minnesota for an afternoon TV battle for a promotion to a fourth place deadlock, already enjoyed by Purdue, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Michigan State.

When the scores are in, however, Northwestern and Michigan State will have left the fourth place congregation for better or for worse.

The Wildcat-Spartan battle is a return engagement. The Spartans were 83-78 winners in a television game last week and now both go into the contest with 2-2 records.

The Iowa-Minnesota game is a TV matinee affair which gives either team a chance to move into fourth place. The Hawkeyes have lost two and won three in the league and the Gophers go into the game with a 1-2 record.

Four of the conference scoring aces will see action in the two games. George Kline, averaging 22.6 points for Minnesota, and teammate Roger Johnson, hitting 17.0, will go against Dave Gunther, Hawkeye sharpshooter who owns a 19.2 mark in conference play.

Michigan State's rebound artist, Johnny Green, will play against Joe Ruklick, who has compiled a 17.5 average in four league games for Northwestern.

Jack Clayton To Speak At Sicily Island

Sicily Island Coach Raymond Peace of Sicily Island will present letters to members of the 1957 football squad. The W. S. Back Sr. Trophy will be presented to the Most Outstanding Player and the Dr. W. L. Bendel Sportsmanship Trophy will also be awarded.

The night's speaker, Clayton, coached the Northwestern Demons to a tie for first place in the Gulf States Conference in his first year at the school. A graduate of Northwestern, Clayton coached at Western Kentucky State College before coming back to his alma mater. He coached at Bossier City, Vivian and Centenary College before joining the Navy in 1942.

Terlep Is Head Football Coach Of Roughriders

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 24 (AP) — George Terlep, former Notre Dame quarterback and backfield coach of the champion Hamilton Tigercats last season, today signed a two-year contract as head coach of the Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Interprovincial football Union.

President Sam Taylor of the Roughriders said Terlep was chosen from about 20 applicants to succeed Frank Filchok, released last fall. Terlep will have a free hand in selecting as many assistants as he needs.

Terep, 35, played quarterback at Notre Dame under Frank Leahy in 1943-44. He later played for the pro Buffalo Bills. He was backfield coach at the University of South Carolina, Vanderbilt, Marquette, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

Last season he was credited with a major role in Hamilton's Grey Cup victory.

Thorpe Hanover Brown Jug Pick

Longden Plans Turf Comeback

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 24 (AP)—Jockey Johnny Longden, world's winningest jockey with 5,090 victories said today he is ready for a comeback after being out of action five months because of a leg fracture.

He is booked to ride Blue Decade in teh third race at Santa Anita Park tomorrow but said he would postpone his return to the track if it rains.

CASH, BUT NO PARK

Dallas Fails To Conclude Deal For Club Franchise

DALLAS (UP) — The Dallas Community Baseball Association Friday failed to exercise its option to purchase the Dallas baseball franchise of the Class AA Texas League, although association spokesman George Schepps said they had the money.

"The only reason that we failed to close the deal with the Texas League was due to the fact that we did not have a playing site," Schepps said. "We had the money."

League President Dick Butler said failure of the Schepps group to swing the deal did not "close the door" to the association.

Actually, the first option that Schepps held on the franchise meant little as his group was the only party in Dallas known to be interested in acquiring the franchise recently turned back to the league by Mrs. R. W. Burnett. Last Tuesday had been given as a deadline for exercising the option but it was extended until Friday.

Although Mrs. Burnett turned back the franchise, she owns the only sizeable baseball park in the city and terms of its lease may have figured prominently in the jockeying a round to save the baseball franchise for the city.

Schepps said Friday night he had held another conference with the attorney for the Burnett interests and also Warner Lewis who was general manager of the ball club when the Burnetts had it.

"They would not commit themselves at all when we tried to find out how much rent they wanted or how long a lease they wanted," Scheppn said. "We asked them if $35,000 was enough money and got no answer. They said they wanted guarantors. We had men backing us worth a net of $2,375,000 and that didn't seem to be enough."

Lewis had a different version. "At no time has Mr. Schepps given us satisfaction that sufficient financial backing was available to make the lease of Burnett Field to his group practical," Lewis said.

THRILLER

Neville Roars From Behind To Defeat Ouachita, 44-40

Behind, 39-34, with 4:45 to go, Neville caught fire in the closing minutes to win with a bit to spare after having seen the parish schoolboys spurt into the lead for the first time early in the final period.

Neville's girls had something of an easier job in whipping Ouachita in the night's first game, 56-33. It was never much of a contest with Neville, beaten only once, dominating the game.

Coach H. H. Holliman's Ouachita boys, trailing all the way until the final period, made a great comeback themselves but couldn't handle the Neville counter attack. Trailing, 30-24, as the fourth quarter opened, the Lions flashed in two field goals in the first 25 seconds of the quarter and tied the game up, 32-32, with 6:26 to go on Eddie McGowan's field goal McGowan was fouled putting in the basket and sank his free throw to give Ouachita their first lead, 33-32.

After Fred Southerland came back with a Neville basket to put Coach George Davis' Tigers in front again McGowan sank another shot to put the Lions back in the lead. A couple of field goals by a fine substitute, Buddy Norrid, increased Ouachita's lead to 39-34 with 4:45 to go.

However, Neville roared back with five straight field goals without a return with Southerland, Willie Ragan and Francis Genusa doing the honors, Southerland and Genusa twice.

With 1:20 to go, Neville had a 44-39 lead and the best suddenly-cold Ouachita could manage was a charity toss by McGowan with 1:10 left. The Lions were dead.

Ouachita deserved a better fate. They had an awful first quarter, not getting a field goal until after 6:50 had gone and were down, 12-6, at the end of the period. By halftime, the Lions had clawed to within four points of a tie, 17-13, but then fell back to the 30-24 third quarter margin. Then came the race-horse fourth and the final whistle.

Genusa led the Neville scoring with 13 points with Fred Southerland contributing 10. McGowan was Ouachita's best with 18 points with Norrid next with 8.

Neville was never in danger in the girls game and had a 26-10 lead at halftime and increased it to 45-17 with a very productive third quarter.

Ann McDonald put in 28 points, all on field goals, to dominate the scoring for the winners with Betty Hemphill scoring 14. Carol Shipp led Ouachita with 14 markers and Janis Holloway had 10.

Demon Cagers Host Tech Foes Tonight

NATCHITOCHES, (Special) — Ready, willing and certainly able, the balanced Demons of Northwestern State will host their archrivals, the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs, here tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Perhaps the largest crowd of the current season will be present for the tip - off, with the always-action - packed contest being the topic of conversation around Natchitoches for several weeks now.

Most of the fans here will be curious to see what Tech's ace forward, Jackie Moreland, can do against Demon defenders. Moreland, averaging some 29 points per game since his enrollment as a freshman at the Ruston college this year, is the fabulous 6-8 player who was sought after by several colleges and universities last season.

Northwestern has a scorer of its own, however, who in his only conference game, scratched for 27 points, to bring his total to 231 in 16 games.

He is little Jimmie Leach, who at 5-9 is almost a foot shorter than the Tech star. Leach, a jump - shot artist, has also been playing an alert game on defense, lately, pulling down his share of rebounds. He has 54 to his credit to date.

The Demons will probably start Leach, team captain Mickey Crnkovic, Bobby Wicker, Phil Haley, and either Jimmy Adkins or Larry Fontenot against the Bulldogs Saturday night, with Elvin McCann and Larry Skinner ready on the bench for quick substitution.

Statistics this week show seven Demon hoopsters have scored more than 90 points thus far in the season. Beginning with Adkins, who has 96, the tally sheet shows Wicker is next up the ladder, with 99, Haley has exactly 100, McCann possesses 116, Crnkovic has 144, and Leach 231.

This indicates the strength of this year's squad in that "everybody gets in the act." Fontenot has 79, Skinner 60, and Pete Walpole 22 to pratically complete the team roster in the scoring column. Free - throw leader up through NSC's 16 games (11 won, five lost) is Leach, who has swished in 75 out of 91 attempts for a .824 percentage mark. McCann is right behind him, having 36 out of 50 from the charity line for a 72 per cent average.

Corpus Christi Near Oklahoma City Franchise

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Jan. 24 (AP)—E.J. Humphries said today he "was getting pretty close to a deal" to move the Oklahoma City franchise in the Texas League here.

He spent the day in conference with Bob Hamric, owner of the baseball park and baseball territorial rights here, business and civic leaders. He also inspected the baseball park.

"We feel like we have made some definite progress in our talks with each other," Hamric said.

"I think we can get together pretty soon," said Humphries.

If the two can reach a mutual financial agreement, Humphries hinted, he would move his Oklahoma City franchise to Corpus Christi immediately.

Humphries said that if he did decide to come here it would be at least a week before "all the other details can be ironed out."

Humphries said he had talked today with Texas League president Dick Butler and that Butler had told him he had not received any unfavorable league reaction to a proposal to move from Oklahoma City to Corpus Christi.

Ex-Alabama Ace Takes Pro Pact With Canadians

VANCOUVER, Jan. 24 (AP)—The British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union today signed former Alabama halfback Bobby Luna for the 1958 season.

Luna, 24, played with Alabama on the 1952-53 teams that went to the Orange and Cotton Bowls. He was with the San Francisco 49ers in 1955 and has been in the U.S. army the past two years.

'SEVERAL CANDIDATES'

Iowa State Hunt For Coach Opens

AMES, Iowa (UP) —Iowa State College officials announced Friday "several candidates" would be invited next week to be interviewed for the head football coaching post vacated by Jim Myers

Dr E S Haber, chairman of the college of Athletic Council, said the names of the candidates would not be released until the invitations are accepted.

Several names already had been tossed into the hopper. Among them were Leroy Pearce, former Myers' aide now at the University of Nebraska, and Drake Coach Warren Gaer. Both have expressed interest in the job.

The Athletic Council stressed that "no prospect will be invited to the campus until the matter is cleared with the institution where he now is."

The comment apparently was a pointed barb at Texas A & M, which hired away Myers just after he had agreed to a new five-year contract and a $2,000 pay raise to $16,000.

A number of college officials expressed irritation with Myers because of his negotiations for the Texas A&M job.

Boryla Fined $350 For Row With Referee

NEW YORK (UP) — Coach Vince Boryla of the New York Knickerbockers was slapped with the second highest fine in the history of the National Basketball Association Friday when President Maurice Podoloff assessed him $325 for an argument with Referee Lou Eisenstein.

In addition, Podoloff fined Carl Braun of the Knicks $50 for throwing a basketball at Eisenstein in the closing seconds of that same Jan. 12 game against the Philadelphia Warriors. Don Friedricks, the Knicks trainer who was heckling from the bench, was fined $25 for "unbecoming conduct."

While declining to become involved in a discussion of the $325 fine levied against him, Boryla questioned the justice of the fines imposed on Braun and Friedricks.

"What was the true basis for fining Braun and Friedricks?" Boryla asked. "How could Podoloff be certain that Carl was throwing at the referee? It might have just been a long down-court pass."

The only member of the NBA ever fined more than Boryla was owner Les Harrison of the Rochester (now Cincinnati) Royals seven years ago. Harrison, then coach of the Royals, was fined $500 for a dispute with a referee in Tri-Cities (Iowa and Illinois).

The smaller portion of Boryla's fine was $25 for an automatic technical foul called by Eisenstein when the Knicks coach stormed on to the court to argue with him. The $300 was levied for Boryla's scathing tirade that followed.

Boryla became incensed when Eisenstein called a two-shot foul against Richie Guerin with the Knicks leading by two points in the closing seconds of regulation play. Paul Arizin sank the two free throws awarded him and the Warriors went on to win in overtime, 115-110.

SMALL SCHOOLS

PAR Asks More Consolidation

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 24 (AP)—An independent research agency said today more than two-thirds of Louisiana's high schools have less than the accepted standard of 300 minimum enrollment.

Not only is the existence of so many small high schools more costly, the Public Affairs Research council said, but the smaller schools are "unable to offer well-rounded curricula, under teachers with sufficient subject-matter specialization."

PAR said one-fifth of the public high schools in Louisiana have less than 100 students enrolled.

These small schools, PAR said, place an undue burden on teachers who are required to teach a wide variety of subjects. One such teacher, the research group said, is responsible for algebra, geometry, chemistry, American history and physical education.

"The quality of the education provided is adversely affected," PAR said, "by schedules which place on indiviual teachers the burden of teaching courses in widely differing subject fields, making it almost impossible for them to keep abreast of latest developments in so many fields."

PAR said the 96 schools with less than 100 enrolled have less than a 20th of the high school children in Louisiana.

"The low enrollments mean that the number of pupils per teacher is very low—about half the ratio for the larger schools, thus greatly increasing operating costs," PAR said.

The schools with less than 100 students have an average of about 13 pupils per teacher in 1956-57, while there were almost 25 pupils per teacher in schools with more than 300.

PAR said in the larger schools this pupil-teacher ratio included special teachers, guidance counselors, librarians and other specialists not usually employed in smaller schools.

Some of the smaller schools offered mathematics and science courses only in alternate years, PAR added.

PAR reported some progress in consolidation, a net drop of 1,113 in public elementary and high schools in the period 1947-48 to 1955-56.

But it added that most of the consolidation affected Negro elementary and junior high schools, declining 963 in the period, compared to a net decrease of only 43 white and Negro senior high schools.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Public Housing Administration today announced authorization of planning funds for new low-rent homes in Carthage, Miss.

The agency said local housing authorities would be given loans as quickly as possible for plans for 24 dwelling units in Carthage, with the maximum amount of the preliminary loan totaling $4,800.

Churchill Better

NICE, France, Jan. 24 (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, vacationing at nearby Roquerbrune-Cap Martin on the Riviera, was reported feeling fine today after a recent spell of fatigue.

Publisher Emory Reeves, owner of the villa where the British statesman is staying, said Churchill's health is "absolutely normal."

Yesterday, Churchill was reported as feeling too tired to do any painting.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Try Banishing Child That Starts Trouble

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Here is a very long letter about a child of 5½ whom her mother accuses of "not being able to keep her hands to herself," and who because of this gets into trouble and ends up by being hurt.

The child is a good child, very companionable with her mother because her father is away the largest portion of the time. She is also a good friend of two neighbor children — a girl, her age and the girl's 7-year-old brother.

These neighbor children are without a mother, are in poor financial circumstances and are taken care of by an elderly woman. They all play together and it is with the boy that the girl gets into squabbles which end up by her being hurt.

The boy is then sent home. This is considered by the mother to be grossly unfair to the boy as he doesn't start the trouble, it is the girl with the hands that she can't keep to herself.

Gets Worst of It

Mrs· A. F.: This is, I think, the gist of your long letter. If I interpret it rightly — and you are vague in your statements — then the girl sits in front of TV and pokes at the boy, teases him and when he flares up and does the same then she is the one who gets the worst of it.

It is probably she acts this way to get the boy's attention. Little girls are like that with their own sex and with others. They want to be noticed and if they are not, they do something — often something of this nature, to focus notice upon themselves.

You are quite right that it is a shame to punish the boy for retaliating — though, because he is older he has a physical advantage over the girl.

Keep Eyes Open

Suppose you keep your eyes open. When your daughter begins teasing, banish her from wherever she is and tell her that she is disturbing the others and so will have to play by herself.

In this way you discourage the fighting, since she will find it most unpleasant to stay by herself when the other two are watching a good program.

If you don't discipline her, you encourage her to go on acting this way, not only to get attention, but also to punish the boy who is much less to blame than is she. You have the power to end this without making the boy suffer unnecessarily for her wandering hands.

Sun & Sand Club Holds Meeting At The Silmon Home

The Sun & Sand held i's regular January meeting in the home of Mrs. W. T. Silmon, 411 Audubon Drive, West Monroe, La. Guest speaker, Mr. Ralph S. Woodward delivered a most informative lecture on "Transplanting Shrubs." He ended with an open discussion among the members.

A short business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs Van Clark. Coffee and dessert were served by Mrs. W. T. Silmon and Mrs. Sheppard to the following: Mrs. C. H. Bird, Mrs. Raymond Butler, Mrs. M. Van Clark, Mrs. W. T. Gattis, Mrs. Don Higginbotham, Mrs. James E. Kelly, Mrs. K. L. Lindsay, Mrs. Luther Richardson, Mrs Dean Carter, Mrs. Carl Hessick, Mrs. Paul Schmidt, Mrs. Dage, Mrs. D. E. Wadley, Mrs. Midge Kelly and Mrs. Howard W. Barker, guest.

Welcome Garden Club Hears State Chairman

The Welcome Garden Club met at the First Methodist Church of West Monroe for their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. M. W. Montgomery, club president, opened the session with the members reading the Club Collect in unison. After the short business meeting the program chairman introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, State Chairman on Birds of Louisiana Garden Club Federation, 1955-1957, who gave an informative talk on "How to Attract Birds."

Mrs. K. R Young made the line mass arrangement which was placed on a marble top table. The arrangement featured camellias in shades of rose and red placed in a blue container with a black base. Beautiful green leaves completed the picture. Mrs. Norman Jardine was asked to comment on the arrangement, which she did, bringing to notice some very nice points.

The hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Warren Breard, Mrs. Sam Futrell, Mrs. Oscar Harrell Mrs. Ralph Murphy, Mrs. George Hennigan, Mrs. W. G. Haab, Mrs. Ethel Cooper, Mrs. E. B. Johnson, Mrs. D. W. Moore and Mrs. Ralph Thompson.

Members attending the meeting were Mrs. Joseph Mickel, Dr. Katherine Foster, Mrs. Julia Spinks, Mrs. Fred Strickland, Mrs. Phillip Bernhardt, Mrs. K. R. Young, Mrs. Milton Ford, Mrs. Robert Cowden, Mrs. Harry Hipp, Mrs. C. C. Lucky, Mrs. J. W. Golson, Mrs. Luther Branch, Mrs. Byron Breard, Mrs. W. G. Haynes, Mrs. Bert Gambrell, Mrs. P. A. Colvin and Mrs. O. O. Cummins.

Dr. Wm. Smith Is Guest Speaker At Lexington PTA

Lexington Avenue Grammar School held its monthly meeting Thursday at 2:30 p.m., in the school auditorium, Mrs. James Schonlau, presiding. The meeting was opened with prayer led by Mrs. Abe Dreyer, followed by the pledge of allegiance led by Mrs. L. J. Madden Jr.

Mrs. Robert Ellen, secretary read the minutes from both the November and December meetings. Mrs. S. S Hollan, a member of the purchasing committee of the Parents Teachers Association, reported the money from the October carnival had been used to purchase two electric water coolers, phonographs for the rooms needing them and records for the record library.

Mrs. A. C. Warner, program chairman introduced Dr. Will'am Smith, Dean of Education at Northeast State College, who gave a most interesting an informative talk on "Kindling the Creative Spark."

WHY GROW OLD?

Retirement Is Not End, But Start Of New Life

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Both men and women meet retirement in some form sooner or later. The woman in the home must adjust to semi-retirement when her children are grown and leane home. For the man it comes later on, but may be even more of a shock unless he is prepared for it.

A few years ago retirement was much less vibrant than it is today. The life expectancy after retirement from some companies was less than three years. But companies now realize that a happy, retired worker is one of its best public relation representatives.

It is now recognized that retirement must not be the end of something but the beginning of a rich, full, purposeful, productive life. Medical science has made it possible to say, "Life can begin with retirement."

Recreation Training

Many companies are inaugurating programs of recreation training along with training in crafts and other skills which can act as part time careers after the man is retired. These companies begin training and conditioning their employees as much as five years before their separation from the work force.

Geriatrics and preventative medicine have increased the span of life so greatly that the problems of living after retirement have increased tremendously. Many men live to the ripe old youth of 80 and still are going strong.

The help companies are giving will greatly pad the shock of retiring. Many organizations employ psychologists to work with those who will soon be retired. No wonder young men look forward to what the future may have in store and that financial planning for retirement begins as early as the late twenties.

However, men can help themselves greatly by broadening their personal interests and activities outside of their regular work so that they will not be at a loss when retirement comes.

Parents Do Know Best, Teenagers Are Advised

What's with the teen mail sack? If one is to judge by the volume, it would seem that every young modern has a problem, if that is any comfort to you. Maybe one here just hits your spot, so hope the answers rally the spirit.

Q. . have wanted to be a nurse but my parents say that I will tire of it, that the pay is too small, that I will be unhappy. I am 18 and I never have wanted any other career. What shall I do?

A. Your parents are probably the best judge of your suitability to the job. But if you are truly dedicated to the idea of nursing, the chances are you will love it in spite of problems. The basic motivation of nursing is to serve humanity and if you feel that way about the work, monetary remunerations will be secondary Nurses are needed more than ever before as hospitals are overcrowded. If one must lend financial help at home, however, perhaps the nursing pay, particularly in the training stage will be insufficient.

Q. My girl smokes one cigarette after another. I am on the football team and am in training. I do not like to smoke anyway. But I am getting tired of seeing this girl with a cigarette dangling out of the corner of her mouth. I like her in every other way, but this habit is driving me mad.

A. Why don't you appeal to the girl on the basis of your esthetic reaction to her smoking? If you mention after a kiss that the tobacco scent is real high, maybe she will slow down.

Q. I am fond of a boy and have been dating him about two years off and on. He likes me very much and is at my home all the time, even when we do not have a date, as my brother is also a friend of his. We have had an understanding, I guess. Just recently I feel lots older than he even though he is three months olde: than I. We are both 17. I met another boy at a friend's house and he came to call on me on one Saturday night. My "regular" friend dropped in later without being invited. He was very upset to find me entertaining the other boy, and stayed in the living room the entire time. When the other boy left, I told him I thought we had grown apart. He burst into tears and said he assumed we were more or less engaged. What should I do? I do not want to hurt his feelings, but I do not love him anymore, and never could again, because he seems like such a weak individual.

A. The quick excision is better than a lingering death in this case so it would be a good idea to give him a brush-off as soon as possible. If the boy is emotionally disturbed about you and there is no hope of regaining your love for him, all the more reason to call the whole thing off now

Q. Should I get married before I do my stint in military training? My girl says she will not wait for me and wants to get married now.

A. She must be a pretty unreasonable type. You have not yet reached the maturity to achieve the goals necessary to a smooth marriage. Ask yourself:

(1) Are you really in love (only experience can give you the answer?)

(2) Are you able to support a family at this point even though you may not have carved out your niche for the future?

If the girl does not want to wait, take your chances. If she loves you, she will wait.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Four-Year-Old Daughter Is A Rival For Mother

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: Our four-year old daughter is causing trouble in our family, if you can imagine such a thing. The child has fallen into the habit of calling for her daddy in the middle of the night. She says she has "bad dreams" and can't go back to sleep unless we take her in bed with us.

This has been going on every night for three weeks. I'm exhausted from lack of sleep. I can't rest when she is in the middle.

My husband says in time she'll "get over it". Meanwhile, she knows I am opposed to the whole idea and enjoys her "victory" immensely. What should be done?—Defeated

Don't look now, but the female competition in your family is terrific. The child should be kept out of your bed and your husband ought to be put wise to the racket. Consult a doctor who specializes in behavior problems of children.

This is a triple - edged sword and your 4-year-old Bernhardt is playing it to the hilt. She enjoys being "in the middle" in more ways than one. You ought to talk with the doctor, too, and learn how to reduce the competition between the females in your family.

Dear Ann: Good for you. This praise comes from an eighth grade teacher who intends to mount your column on the bulletin board so all the students can see it as a constant reminder.

Your answer to the repentant teenager was superb. But I think you could have gone one step further. When the boy broke off with the girl he ruined because he wanted a "pure" one to marry, why didn't you point out to him that he no longer deserved a "pure" girl since he was no longer pure himself.

Too many young men have the idea that being a member of the male sex grants them an automatic license to do as they please. These same young men are the ones who scream loudest about "purity." I believe this point is worth making in print. Thank you for an excellent column. — Mrs. T. L. H.

Dear Mrs. T. L. H.: And thank you for your kind words.

You bet the point is worth making — and I'm happy to print your letter. The "double - standard" boys should not get away with condemning girls who haven't behaved 100 per cent when they themselves have fallen short of the mark.

Confidentially: Cantgetabreak: Kwitcherbellyakin and get the kind of help you know you need. A. A. welcomes everybody. You sign nothing, pay nothing and promise nothing. Good luck.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

The boy is then sent home. This is considered by the mother to be grossly unfair to the boy as he doesn't start the trouble, it is the girl with the hands that she can't keep to herself.

Gets Worst of It

Mrs. A. F.: This is, I think, the gist of your long letter. If I interpret it rightly — and you are vague in your statements — then the girl sits in front of TV and pokes at the boy, teases him and when he flares up and does the same then she is the one who gets the worst of it.

It is probably she acts this way to get the boy's attention. Little girls are like that with their own sex and with others. They want to be noticed and if they are not, they do something — often something of this nature, to focus notice upon themselves.

You are quite right that it is a shame to punish the boy for retaliating — though, because he is older he has a physical advantage over the girl.

Keep Eyes Open

Suppose you keep your eyes open. When your daughter begins teasing, banish her from wherever she is and tell her that she is disturbing the others and so will have to play by herself.

In this way you discourage the fighting, since she will find it most unpleasant to stay by herself when the other two are watching a good program.

If you don't discipline her, you encourage her to go on acting this way, not only to get attention, but also to punish the boy who is much less to blame than is she. You have the power to end this without making the boy suffer unnecessarily for her wandering hands.

Welcome Garden Club Hears State Chairman

The Welcome Garden Club met at the First Methodist Church of West Monroe for their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. M. W. Montgomery, club president, opened the session with the members reading the Club Collect in unison. After the short business meeting the program chairman introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, State Chairman on Birds of Louisiana Garden Club Federation, 1955-1957, who gave an informative talk on "How to Attract Birds."

Mrs. K. R Young made the line mass arrangement which was placed on a marble top table. The arrangement featured camellias in shades of rose and red placed in a blue container with a black base. Beautiful green leaves completed the picture. Mrs. Norman Jardine was asked to comment on the arrangement, which she did, bringing to notice some very nice points.

The hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Warren Breard, Mrs. Sam Futrell, Mrs. Oscar Harrell Mrs. Ralph Murphy, Mrs. George Hennigan, Mrs. W. G. Haab, Mrs. Ethel Cooper, Mrs. E. B. Johnson, Mrs. D. W. Moore and Mrs. Ralph Thompson.

Lexington Avenue Grammar School held its monthly meeting Thursday at 2:30 p.m., in the school auditorium, Mrs. James Schonlau, presiding. The meeting was opened with prayer led by Mrs. Abe Dreyer, followed by the pledge of allegiance led by Mrs. L. J. Madden Jr.

Mrs. Robert Ellen, secretary read the minutes from both the November and December meetings. Mrs. S. S Hollan, a member of the purchasing committee of the Parents Teachers Association, reported the money from the October carnival had been used to purchase two electric water coolers, phonographs for the rooms needing them and records for the record library.

Mrs. A. C. Warner, program chairman introduced Dr. William Smith, Dean of Education at Northeast State College, who gave a most interesting an informative talk on "Kindling the Creative Spark."

WHY GROW OLD?

Retirement Is Not End, But Start Of New Life

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Both men and women meet retirement in some form sooner or later. The woman in the home must adjust to semi-retirement when her children are grown and leane home. For the man it comes later on, but may be even more of a shock unless he is prepared for it.

A few years ago retirement was much less vibrant than it is today. The life expectancy after retirement from some companies was less than three years. But companies now realize that a happy, retired worker is one of its best public relation representatives.

It is now recognized that retirement must not be the end of something but the beginning of a rich, full, purposeful, productive life. Medical science has made it possible to say, "Life can begin with retirement."

Recreation Training

Many companies are inaugurating programs of recreation training along with training in crafts and other skills which can act as part time careers after the man is retired. These companies begin training and conditioning their employees as much as five years before their separation from the work force.

Geriatrics and preventative medicine have increased the span of life so greatly that the problems of living after retirement have increased tremendously. Many men live to the ripe old youth of 80 and still are going strong.

The help companies are giving will greatly pad the shock of retiring. Many organizations employ psychologists to work with those who will soon be retired. No wonder young men look forward to what the future may have in store and that financial planning for retirement begins as early as the late twenties.

However, men can help themselves greatly by broadening their personal interests and activities outside of their regular work so that they will not be at a loss when retirement comes.

Parents Do Know Best, Teenagers Are Advised

What's with the teen mail sack? If one is to judge by the volume, it would seem that every young modern has a problem, if that is any comfort to you. Maybe one here just hits your spot, so hope the answers rally the spirit.

Q. . have wanted to be a nurse but my parents say that I will tire of it, that the pay is too small, that I will be unhappy. I am 18 and I never have wanted any other career. What shall I do?

A. Your parents are probably the best judge of your suitability to the job. But if you are truly dedicated to the idea of nursing, the chances are you will love it in spite of problems. The basic motivation of nursing is to serve humanity and if you feel that way about the work, monetary remunerations will be secondary Nurses are needed more than ever before as hospitals are overcrowded. If one must lend financial help at home, however, perhaps the nursing pay, particularly in the training stage will be insufficient.

Q. My girl smokes one cigarette after another. I am on the football team and am in training. I do not like to smoke anyway. But I am getting tired of seeing this girl with a cigarette dangling out of the corner of her mouth. I like her in every other way, but this habit is driving me mad.

A. Why don't you appeal to the girl on the basis of your esthetic reaction to her smoking? If you mention after a kiss that the tobacco scent is real high, maybe she will slow down.

Q. I am fond of a boy and have been dating him about two years off and on. He likes me very much and is at my home all the time, even when we do not have a date, as my brother is also a friend of his. We have had an understanding, I guess. Just recently I feel lots older than he even though he is three months olde: than I. We are both 17. I met another boy at a friend's house and he came to call on me on one Saturday night. My "regular" friend dropped in later without being invited. He was very upset to find me entertaining the other boy, and stayed in the living room the entire time. When the other boy left, I told him I thought we had grown apart. He burst into tears and said he assumed we were more or less engaged. What should I do? I do not want to hurt his feelings, but I do not love him anymore, and never could again, because he seems like such a weak individual.

A. The quick excision is better than a lingering death in this case so it would be a good idea to give him a brush-off as soon as possible. If the boy is emotionally disturbed about you and there is no hope of regaining your love for him, all the more reason to call the whole thing off now

Q. Should I get married before I do my stint in military training? My girl says she will not wait for me and wants to get married now.

A. She must be a pretty unreasonable type. You have not yet reached the maturity to achieve the goals necessary to a smooth marriage. Ask yourself:

(1) Are you really in love (only experience can give you the answer?)

(2) Are you able to support a family at this point even though you may not have carved out your niche for the future?

If the girl does not want to wait, take your chances. If she loves you, she will wait.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: Our four-year old daughter is causing trouble in our family, if you can imagine such a thing. The child has fallen into the habit of calling for her daddy in the middle of the night. She says she has "bad dreams" and can't go back to sleep unless we take her in bed with us.

This has been going on every night for three weeks. I'm exhausted from lack of sleep. I can't rest when she is in the middle.

My husband says in time she'll "get over it". Meanwhile, she knows I am opposed to the whole idea and enjoys her "vic ory" immensely. What should be done?—Defeated

Don't look now, but the female competition in your family is terrific. The child should be kept out of your bed and your husband ought to be put wise to the racket. Consult a doctor who specializes in behavior problems of children.

This is a triple - edged sword and your 4-year-old Bernhardt is playing it to the hilt. She enjoys being "in the middle" in more ways than one. You ought to talk with the doctor, too, and learn how to reduce the competition between the females in your family.

Dear Ann: Good for you. This praise comes from an eighth grade teacher who intends to mount your column on the bulletin board so all the students can see it as a constant reminder.

Your answer to the repentant teenager was superb. But I think you could have gone one step further. When the boy broke off with the girl he ruined because he wanted a "pure" one to marry, why didn't you point out to him that he no longer deserved a "pure" girl since he was no longer pure himself.

Too many young men have the idea that being a member of the male sex grants them an automatic license to do as they please. These same young men are the ones who scream loudest about "purity." I believe this point is worth making in print. Thank you for an excellent column. — Mrs. T. L. H.

Dear Mrs. T. L. H.: And thank you for your kind words.

You bet the point is worth making — and I'm happy to print your letter. The "double - standard" boys should not get away with condemning girls who haven't behaved 100 per cent when they themselves have fallen short of the mark.

Confidentially: Cantgetabreak: Kwitcherbellyakin and get the kind of help you know you need. A. A. welcomes everybody. You sign nothing, pay nothing and promise nothing. Good luck.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

March Of Dimes Auction Is Set For Television

The annual Ouachita Parish March of Dimes Polio Auction will be held on a local television station tonight to help raise funds to continue the fight on infantile paralysis.

The auction will get under way at 10 o'clock tonight, and continue until 2 a.m. Sunday.

Many things, ranging from a date with a beauty queen, various household items, and pet animals, will be offered at the auction.

Law Enforcement Agencies Lauded

The Rev. G. W. Pomeroy yesterday said the Monroe Ministerial Association has approved a resolution commending law enforcement agencies here for recent anti - gambling measures.

"The entire history of gambling shows that it has brought nothing but poverty, crime, corruption and demoralization of moral and ethical standards for all of the people," the resolution stated.

"Therefore, we heartily commend the mayor and the city council, the district attorney's office, the sheriff's office and the grand jury for their firm and courageous efforts at clearing our community of this evil.

"We call upon all good citizens to join with these agencies in their fight that this community may maintain itself free from the threat gambling makes to its faith, to its personal character and to its social morality."

The statement was presented to the association by Dr. Ben Oliphint of St. Paul's Methodist Church, who was head of a special committee appointed to word the resolution.

Arraignment Set For 36 Persons

Thirty - six persons indicted by the Ouachita Parish Grand Jury on gambling indictments are due to appear in Fourth District Court for arraignment next Friday.

The Sheriff's Department revealed that 36 persons were notified by registered letter yesterday to appear for the arraignments. The remaining portion of those indicted will be notified to appear at a later date.

Historical Society Meeting Set Today

A round table with members explaining methods of organizing genealogical materials will highlight the meeting of the Ouachita Genealogical and Historical Society today at 2 p. m. in the Ouachita Parish Court House. Various committees will present reports, with special attention being directed toward the museum project. The board of directors will meet at 1:30 p.m.

POWER-PACKED DOUGHNUT — A working model of Britain's doughnut-shaped ZETA (Zero Energy Themonuclear Assembly) absorbs scientist D. H. Goodall yesterday at Harwell atomic energy research establishment. The device has achieved temperatures as high as 5,000,000 degrees centigrade in experiments on the compression of deuterium to cause fusion of its atoms. The research is aimed at harnessing the power released in the fusion process for peacetime power uses. (AP Wirephoto.)

Services Today For Clinton W. Salmon

FARMERVILLE (Special)—Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Clinton W. Salmon, 58, of Marion, who died in a Marion clinic yesterday afternoon after a short illness.

Services will be from the First Baptist Church at Marion, the Rev. W. S. McCullin officiating. Interment will follow in the Roark Cemetery near Marion under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home here.

Mr. Salmon had been an employe of Southwest Natural Gas Co. for 15 years, and was a Mason and member of the First Baptist Church of Marion.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. C. W. Salmon; a son, Rodney L.; a daughter, Mrs. Cecil Minor of Shreveport; two sisters, Mrs. Eveleen Sacket of Monroe and Mrs. Josephine Egeloff of Manton, Mich.; his mother, Mrs. Emily Salmon of Manton, Mich.; and two grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Cass Cole, Everett Reppond, Roy Linsey, A. B. Greenlee, H. W. Montgomery, and Dub McKinnie.

March Of Dimes Auction Is Set For Television

The annual Ouachita Parish March of Dimes Polio Auction will be held on a local television station tonight to help raise funds to continue the fight on infantile paralysis.

The auction will get under way at 10 o'clock tonight, and continue until 2 a.m. Sunday.

Many things, ranging from a date with a beauty queen, various household items, and pet animals, will be offered at the auction.

Law Enforcement Agencies Lauded

The Rev. G. W. Pomeroy yesterday said the Monroe Ministerial Association has approved a resolution commending law enforcement agencies here for recent anti - gambling measures.

"The entire history of gambling shows that it has brought nothing but poverty, crime, corruption and demoralization of moral and ethical standards for all of the people," the resolution stated.

"Therefore, we heartily commend the mayor and the city council, the district attorney's office, the sheriff's office and the grand jury for their firm and courageous efforts at clearing our community of this evil.

"We call upon all good citizens to join with these agencies in their fight that this community may maintain itself free from the threat gambling makes to its faith, to its personal character and to its social morality."

The statement was presented to the association by Dr. Ben Oliphint of St. Paul's Methodist Church, who was head of a special committee appointed to word the resolution.

Arraignment Set For 36 Persons

Thirty - six persons indicted by the Ouachita Parish Grand Jury on gambling indictments are due to appear in Fourth District Court for arraignment next Friday.

The Sheriff's Department revealed that 36 persons were notified by registered letter yesterday to appear for the arraignments. The remaining portion of those indicted will be notified to appear at a later date.

Historical Society Meeting Set Today

A round table with members explaining methods of organizing genealogical materials will highlight the meeting of the Ouachita Genealogical and Historical Society today at 2 p. m. in the Ouachita Parish Court House. Various committees will present reports, with special attention being directed toward the museum project. The board of directors will meet at 1:30 p.m.

Large Water Tank Being Renovated

Constructed in 1927, the tank, located at Grammont and 12th streets, is being completely over hauled. Thisis the first time the tank has undergone an overhaul since its construction, according to Tom Underwood, Utilities Commission manager.

GETS THE DRIFT

READING, Pa. — (UP) — Traveling the Pennsylvania Turnpike to Albany, N.Y., to deliver an address on snow removal, turnpike director Joseph J. Lawler was delayed here when his car bogged down in a 14-foot snowdrift.

Injury Reported In Car Collision

Investigators reports showed that a car driven north on Jackson street by Michael J. Lucia Jr., 20 of Innis was rammed from behind by a vehicle operated by Wilber G. Nethery, 26 of Grayson. Mrs. M. J. Lucias Sr., reported to have sustained a sligh neck injury, did not require immediate treatment, records showed.

Thefts Investigated

Chief of Police James C. Kelly Jr., revealed reports from Ernest L. Johnson, 401 N. 2nd St. which held that someone took an electric razor valued at $30 from his business there. Johnson told authorities he had stepped out for a minute leaving his store unattended. Authorities also revealed a report of a bicycle reported taken from 1102 S. 2nd St, sometime between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m. yesterday. The bicycle was described as a 26-inch, red and white Auto - Lec.

MERGER

Directors of Callahan Zink Lead Co. and Vulcan Silver Lead Corp. formally approved a proposed agreement of merger on the basis of one share of Callahan stock for one share of Vulcan. Callahan Zinc Lead Co. will be the surviving company.

TAXES

Reductions in taxes were advocated by a House-Senate economic subcommittee if the slump in business deepens. But the panel warned against premature tax cuts, saying credit-easing steps should be pushed first.

AUTOS

Auto companies are still turning out cars faster than they are being sold, industry sources estimate. Despite extensive cutbacks in production since late December, dealers of new car stocks are expected to climb above 790,000 units by the close of January. They were around 750,000 at the start of the month.

DISCOUNT

Federal Reserve Banks in six more cities cut their discount rate, the fee charged on loans to member banks, from three per cent to two and three-fourths per cent. They were following the reduction initiated in Philadelphia Tuesday as a further move to spur business revival.

CRUDE OIL

Crude oil price structure is weak in many areas and "I believe there is more universal feeling that crude prices will not hold than there has been for a year," said Robert L. Milligan, president of Pure Oil Co. He estimated his company's 1957 earnings were down several per cent from the $4.26 a common share netted in 1956.

TOOLS

Machine tool orders last month fell to the lowest level since October 1949. The industry's incoming business amounted to $18.6 million according to the National Machine Tool Builders Association. This was a 34 per cent decline from November. It was 65 per cent below bookings in December 1956.

There was modest trade hedging pressure across the board based on the uncertainty of Australian auction levels next Tuesday. In the absence of any Australian auctions yesterday and with Australian markets closed on Monday the inclination was for futures to drift.

There continues to be a fair amount of switching from spot contracts to the African auction center. Prices were unchanged to up two and one-half per cent with clearances satisfactory. London futures closed barely steady, off one penny in moderate trading.

Market Pushes Upward In Late Technical Rally

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Steels paced a sluggish stock market to a late rally today which resulted in the week's best gain and highest turnover.

The quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange rose an estimated 1½ billion dollars, based on the rise in the Associated Press average.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.20 to $162.00 with the industrials up $1.90, the rails up $1.00 and the utilities up 30 cents.

Volume totaled 2,830,000 shares compared with 1,910,000 yesterday and was the biggest since Jan. 16.

Of 1,167 issues traded, 735 rose and 213 fell. New highs for 1957-58 totaled 39

Twelve of the 15 most active stocks rose, two fell and one was unchanged.

Corporate bonds rose with fair volume.

COTTON

NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 25 cents to $1 a bale lower today in nervous dealings.

Uncertainty over farm legislation dominated dealings in new crop trading months and accounted for erratic prices.

Declines in current crop months were cushioned by trade buying. Liquidation and hedging extended early losses to 75 cents a bale. The market later recovered somewhat as trade buying was attracted in greater volume. The trend turned weak in the final hour as liquidation increased.

One particular development unsettling futures was a meeting of representatives of the National Cotton Council with Agriculture Secretary Benson.

Washington did not report any definite conclusions from this meeting but said the council asked the agriculture secretary to allow a 25 per cent increase in cotton acreage allotments for 1958.

Benson previously indicated opposition to an increase this year above the present allotment of 17,600,000 acres unless there is a definite emergency.

Futures closed 25 cents to $1 a bale lower than the previous close.

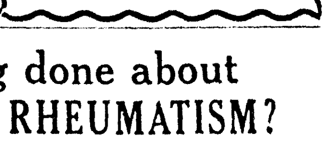
What is being done about
ARTHRITIS and RHEUMATISM?

Medical Reports Show Progress Is Being Made



Almost daily, new reports from great research centers show encouraging progress. And right now, at your drugstore, there is new, lasting relief from sore aching joints. Rheumatic, Arthritic pain. It's PABASONE ... now available without prescription. Unlike many temporary pain-relieving products which depend mainly on the action of common aspirin ... PABASONE contains three ingredients which work together to relieve arthritis and rheumatism pains faster and more completely: Sodium Salicylate helps stop pain, reduce swelling; Para-Amino-Benzoic Acid enables your system to derive more of the pain-relieving benefits for longer periods of time, with no stomach distress; Ascorbic Acid (Vitamin C) aids in maintaining prolonged relief from pain. The PABASONE formula, clinically tested and approved by doctors, is now available at your pharmacy. Get PABASONE today. You may rediscover the joys of normal days, pain-free, restful nights! Accept no substitutes.

TICKER TAPE HIGHLIGHTS

MERGER

Directors of Callahan Zink Lead Co. and Vulcan Silver Lead Corp. formally approved a proposed agreement of merger on the basis of one share of Callahan stock for one share of Vulcan. Callahan Zinc Lead Co. will be the surviving company.

TAXES

Reductions in taxes were advocated by a House-Senate economic subcommittee if the slump in business deepens. But the panel warned against premature tax cuts, saying credit-easing steps should be pushed first.

AUTOS

Auto companies are still turning out cars faster than they are being sold, industry sources estimate. Despite extensive cutbacks in production since late December, dealers of new car stocks are expected to climb above 790,000 units by the close of January. They were around 750,000 at the start of the month.

DISCOUNT

Federal Reserve Banks in six more cities cut their discount rate, the fee charged on loans to member banks, from three per cent to two and three-fourths per cent. They were following the reduction initiated in Philadelphia Tuesday as a further move to spur business revival.

CRUDE OIL

Crude oil price structure is weak in many areas and "I believe there is more universial feeling that crude prices will not hold than there has been for a year," said Robert L. Milligan, president of Pure Oil Co. He estimated his company's 1957 earnings were down several per cent from the $4.26 a common share netted in 1956.

TOOLS

Machine tool orders last month fell to the lowest level since October 1949. The industry's incoming business amounted to $18.6 million according to the National Machine Tool Builders Association. This was a 34 per cent decline from November. It was 65 per cent below bookings in December 1956.

WOOL LETTER

There was modest trade hedging pressure across the board based on the uncertainty of Australian auction levels next Tuesday. In the absence of any Australian auctions yesterday and with Australian markets closed on Monday the inclination was for futures to drift.

There continues to be a fair amount of switching from spot contracts to the African auction center. Prices were unchanged to up two and one-half per cent with clearances satisfactory. London futures closed barely steady, off one penny in moderate trading.

Market Pushes Upward In Late Technical Rally

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Steels paced a sluggish stock market to a late rally today which resulted in the week's best gain and highest turnover.

The quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange rose an estimated 1½ billion dollars, based on the rise in the Associated Press average.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.20 to $162.00 with the industrials up $1.90, the rails up $1.00 and the utilities up 30 cents.

Volume totaled 2,830,000 shares compared with 1,910,000 yesterday and was the biggest since Jan. 15.

Of 1,167 issues traded, 735 rose and 213 fell. New highs for 1957-58 totaled 39

Twelve of the 15 most active stocks rose, two fell and one was unchanged.

Corporate bonds rose with fair volume.

3 Richland Towns To Hold Elections

RAYVILLE (Special) —A tentative date of April 8 has been set for election of officials to fill various town posts in Mangham, Delhi and Rayville.

The Democratic Executive Committee will meet February 3 in each of the three towns to establish a definite date. The committees will accept notification of candidacy in the 10 days following the meeting with the deadline for qualifying being February 13.

In all three towns the executive committees have agreed to hold elections to fill offices of mayors, marshals and aldermen.

3 Richland Towns To Hold Elections

RAYVILLE (Special) —A tentative date of April 8 has been set for election of officials to fill various town posts in Mangham, Delhi and Rayville.

The Democratic Executive Committee will meet February 3 in each of the three towns to establish a definite date. The committees will accept notification of candidacy in the 10 days following the meeting with the deadline for qualifying being February 13.

In all three towns the executive committees have agreed to hold elections to fill offices of mayors, marshals and aldermen.

Mer Rouge JC's Install Officers

MER ROUGE (Special — Dr. James Ogden was installed as president of the Mer Rouge Junior Chamber of Commerce at a dinner last night at a banquet held at Stewart's Drive Inn.

Jake Ussery, who was named as Man of the Year in Monroe for 1958, was principal speaker.

Other officers assuming duties were Dr. Thomas M. Higginbotham, vice preident; L. J. Fontenot, secretary treasurer; Roy C. Windsor Jr., state director; Sam Rosier, member at large and Barney Cox, local director.

Outgoing officers were Windsor, president; B. M. Nolan, vice president; Cliff Satterfield, secretary treasurer; Don Bocau, state director; Bill Womack, local director; and the Rev. L. Jones, member at large.

The Jaycees have launched an active program of organizing a ball club for the Mer Rouge area.

Dodson To Host Singing Meet

DODSON (Special) — The Tri-Parish Singing Convention will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight and at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Dodson High School auditorium, D. M. May, convention president, said.

Scores of visiting gospel singing groups will be present and the public is invited to attend.

TV Station At El Dorado To Up Power

EL DORADO, Ark., (Special)—The Federal Communications Commission has approved the application of KRBB-TV, here, for an increase in power and tower height. The announcement came from Dr. Joe F. Rushton, president of South Arkansas Television Company.

The expansion program will boost KRBB-TV (Channel 10) from 24kw to the full power of 316kw. A new transmitter site has been selected north of Huttig, Arkansas, which is 25 miles southeast of El Dorado and 40 miles north of Monroe. The studios will remain at El Dorado.

The application calls for a new 25kw transmitter anl the newest, most modern type of TV antenna which will be one of the first to be placed in operation in the nation.

Tallest Tower

The tower itself will stand 1,350 feet and will be the tallest tower between the Mississippi River and Dallas, Tex., as well as one of the tallest in the nation. With the full power transmitter and tower, the station's reception area will reach to Texarkana on the west, Winnfield on the south, Greenville, Miss. on the east and Pine Bluff on the north. KRBB will also be equipped to telecast network color.

Construction of the new facilities is expected to begin soon... and should be in operation later this year.

The name "penguin" is believed to have originated with 17th-century Spanish navigators, who called the birds "pinguinos," from "pinguigo" or "greasy one."
